Bruening Named 83rd Cadet Corps C.O. Armstrong Gets Gordon Prize At Commencement Ceremonies

Cadet Col. Jimmy Lee Allen Armstrong, Cadet Battalion commander, was awarded the Gordon Prize during Commencement activities, May 24, at St. John's Military School.

The Gordon Prize, given by John J. Vanier of Salina, has not been awarded since 1966. It is given to the Senior Cadet who combines the highest qualities of leadership and excellence in athletics, academics and military.

Armstrong has been awarded a four-year Army ROTC scholarship and will attend The Citadel.

A crowd estimated at 1200 guests and Cadets attended the outdoor ceremonies as 25 seniors received diplomas.

Col. Keith G. Duckers, Superintendent, announced that St. John's had been designated an honor school for the 1969-70 School year as a result of the annual inspection of the junior Reserve Officers Training Corps detachment in April.

The Hardy Sabre, symbol of command, was passed from the 82nd Battalion Commander, Armstrong, to Dwight Joseph Bruening, Liberty, Mo., who was named commander for the 83rd Corps of Cadets. Bruening was also named commander of the Crack Drill Squad during the squad's final drill Saturday night at Memorial Hall. Dennis Purinton was named commander of the Color Guard.

Colonel Duckers told the Cadets to look to the past accomplishments of their parents and grandparents. He charged them to do as well and many problems of the world would be solved. (Editor's Note: The complete text of Colonel Duckers address will be found on page two.)

Colonel Duckers and the Rt. Rev. William Davidson, president ex-officio of the St. John's board of Trustees, presented diplomas during the exercises on Perkins Field.

Receiving the review Sunday was Col. D. D. Bridenbaugh, division commanding officer of the First Infantry Division artillery, Ft. Riley.

Col. Bridenbaugh also presented M/Sgt. Frank Hazzard, Salina, instructor in the ROTC instructional group, the Purple Heart and the Army Commendation medal with "V" device for heroism in the Republic of Vietnam, May 12, 1969.

Speaker for the Baccalaureate service at Salina High School auditorium was the Ven. M. Lewis Marsh jr., Archdeacon of the Diocese of Colorado.

Fr. Marsh told those attending that everything in life is a gift from God and these gifts can be used either to destroy or to enhance our world.

He said, "Those who have studied the practical have understanding, those who haven't are bewildered. You are a steward of God's gifts. To do our own 'thing' requires responsibility. Through responsibility we have freedom."

He ended with the inscription in the Ford Foundation building in New York City, "The world we not live in is the world we must transform: we cannot destroy it. We must live with it until we can have it better; and practical ideals are our only hope of making it better."

The officiant at the ceremony was Bishop Davidson, Bishop of the Missionary District of Western Kansas.

Robert Hiltz jr. was the crucifer. Acolytes were Scott Kirkland and Richard Renwick.

The offertory solo was sung by Cadet Warren A. Smart II, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Vishneske, music teacher.

The bugler for the Presentation of Colors was John Vnuk. Color Bearers were David Carlock, Mark Stigall, Dan Peck and Stephen Cussen.

Raymond R. Shideler, a member of the SJMS faculty from 1919-1930, was the organist.

The lessons were read by Capt. Leo Ayers, Director of Admissions.

THE HARDY SABRE, symbol of command, was passed from the Cadet commander of the 82nd Corps to the Cadet who will run the 83rd Corps. Dwight J. Bruening, Liberty, Mo. (left) receives the Sabre from Jimmy Lee Armstrong, Wichita, the retiring commander.

"C" Company Wins Honor Unit Award

The Honor Company award for the 1969-70 School year was presented to "C" Company during Military Field Day activities, Saturday, May 23. Capt. Bill Griffith was the company commander.

The award was based on academic achievement, military excellence, good conduct and athletic leadership. "C" Company also captured the best drill company award during competition that afternoon.

The company is made up of seventh, eighth and ninth grade Cadets living in Mize Hall. They have won the award five years.

The first sergeant of the company was Jim Croke. Platoon leaders were Ken Miller, Kent Mosher and Andy Anderson. The platoon sergeants were Stephen Marsh, Ken Harper and Kevin Boundy. Squad leaders were Drew Demshki, Don Eddie, Kren Bosse, Mark Thomas, Mark Harper, Tom Fiske, Bart Day, Dale Grace and Mike Dunn.

First Platoon of "B" Company won the platoon drill competition. Phil Smith was the leader and Bob Lewis, the platoon sergeant.

Ray Garvey won the individual Manual-of-Arms "drill down" for the Upper School and Kren Bosse won the award in the Lower School.

The judges were instructors from the Fifth U. S. Army Academy at Ft. Riley. Planning the activities were Maj. James H. Hamilton jr., SAI; M/Sgt. Frank B. Hazzard, Senior enlisted Army instructor; F/Sgt. Robert M. Herndon, enlisted instructor, and Lt. Col. Paul H. Kellogg, Commandant.

THE LONG NAVY BLUE LINE formed the processional corridor for the 25 graduating seniors on Commencement afternoon, Sunday,

May 24. Leading the procession was the Cadet Color Guard.

"You Can Build On Your Ancestors' Achievements"

... Says Superintendent

(Editor's Note: The following is the Charge to the Graduates by Col. Keith G. Duckers, Superintendent, during Commencement exercises.)

This ceremony marks the completion of an important phase of your life. It is an occasion in which all who know you can share in your sense of pride and accomplishment. But I am not going to tell that older generation how bright you are. Nor am I going to say we have made a mess of things and you—the younger ones—are the hope of mankind. I would like to reverse that process. For if you of the graduating class will look into the bleachers to your left or right, I will re-introduce you to representatives of some of the most remarkable people to ever walk the earth. People you might want to thank on this graduation day. These are people you already know—your parents and grandparents. And, if you will bear with me for five minutes, I think you will agree that a remarkable people they are indeed. Let me tell you about them.

Not long ago an educator from Northwestern University by the name of Bergen Evans, a radio performer known to your parents, got together some facts about these two generations—I would like to share some of these facts with you.

These—your parents and grandparents—are the people who within just five decades—1920-1970—have by their work increased your life expectancy by approximately 60 per cent—who, while cutting the working day by a third, have more than doubled per capita output.

These are the people who have given you a healthier world than they found. And because of this, you no longer have to fear epidemics of flu, typhus, diphtheria, smallpox, scarlet fever, measles or mumps that they knew in their youth. And the dreaded polio is no longer a medical factor, while TB is almost unheard of.

Let me remind you that these remarkable people lived through history's greatest depression. Many of these people know what it is to be hungry and cold. And because of this, they determined that it would not happen to you, that you would have a better life, you would have food to eat, milk to drink, vitamins to nourish you, a warm home, better schools, and greater opportunities to succeed than they had.

Because they gave you the best, you are the tallest, healthiest, brightest and probably best looking generation to inhabit the land.

And because they were materialistic, you will work fewer hours, learn more, have more leisure time, travel to more distant places and have more of a chance to follow your life's ambition.

These are also the people who fought man's grisliest war. They are the people who defeated the tyranny of Hitler, and who when it was over, had the compassion to spend billions of dollars to help their former enemies rebuild their homelands. And these are the people who had the sense to begin the United Nations.

It was representatives of these two generations, who through the highest court of the land, fought racial discrimination at every turn to begin a new era in civil rights. They built thousands of high schools, trained and hired tens of thousands of better teachers, and at the same time made higher education a very real possibility for millions of youngsters—where once it was only the dream of a wealthy few.

And they made a start—although a late one—in healing the scars of the earth and in fighting pollution and the destruction of our natural environment. They set into motion new laws giving conservation new meaning, and setting aside land for you and your children to enjoy for generations to come.

They also hold the dubious record for paying taxes—although you will probably exceed them in this.

While they have done all these things, they have had some failures. They have not yet found an alternative for war, nor for racial hatred. Perhaps you, the members of this graduating class, will perfect the social mechanisms, by which all men may follow their ambitions without the threat of force—so that the earth will no longer need police to enforce the laws, nor armies to prevent some men from trespassing against others. But they—those generations—made more progress by the sweat of their brows than any previous era, and don't you forget it. And, if your generation can make as much progress in as many areas as these two generations have, you should be able to solve the great part of the world's remaining ills.

It is my hope, that you will find the answers to many of these problems that plague mankind. But it won't be easy. And you won't do it by negative thoughts, nor by tearing down or belittling. You may and can do it by hard work, humility, hope and faith in mankind. Try it!

GOODBYE AND GOOD LUCK TO ALL OF YOU.
K. G. D.

Pyle Heads Final Roll

Evan Pyle headed the Upper School's honor roll for the eighth grading period. Others named to the list with grade averages above 90 were Stephen Marsh, Andrew Anderson, Brian Adams, Robert Thomas, Patrick Blossom, Randy Greer, David Dorais, Loran Green, Kenneth Harper, Kenneth Miller, Raymond Garvey, Thomas Harper, Gaylen Piercy, Gerald Tincani, Jack Cairns, Dale Grace, Robert Loughrey, David Swanda, John Cowger, Michael Hawkesworth, Joseph Claussen and Frank Swank.

M. Thomas Leads Lower School List

Mark Thomas headed the Lower School honor list for the eighth grading period. Others named to the list were Stuart Zager, Geoff Morris, John Lundgren, Richard Renwick, Robert Hiltz.

Receiving honorable mention were Douglass Putney, James Rucker, Glen Lundgren, Eric Hargrove and Mark Harper.

President Nixon Sent Congratulations to Seniors

TO THE 1970 GRADUATING CLASS SAINT JOHN'S MILITARY SCHOOL

It is traditional on commencement day to congratulate the senior class and to address all of the graduates in terms of what the future holds for them. I am breaking that tradition, and instead of congratulating and addressing the class as a whole, I would prefer to direct my thoughts to each of you individually, through this letter. If I had the opportunity to greet each of you individually, this is what I would say:

Congratulations—on being who you are, a unique human being capable of making a special contribution to our nation and the world. Congratulations on being fortunate enough to have parents and teachers and administrators who care deeply about you.

I don't have to tell you what the future holds for you. You know that life has responsibilities as well as rewards, failures as well as successes, tragedies as well as joys. You know that our nation offers splendid opportunity—and faces grave problems.

On your commencement day, then, the important question is what you hold for the future. I am confident that your special and irreplaceable qualities of mind and heart and spirit will contribute to the building of a strong free and just nation and a peaceful world. As you go forward you take with you my best wishes and highest hopes.

Signed:
Richard Nixon,
President of the United States of America

Who Was Mr. Gordon?

The top award given at St. John's School is the Gordon Prize. It is given only in years when there is a Cadet best combining the qualities of school spirit and excellence in academics and athletics.

The winner's name is inscribed on a stone tablet in Vail Hall. But—who is the Mr. Gordon in whose memory this award is made?

The award was established in 1906 but in the lists of Bishops, Trustees, "old boys" and faculty members there is no one listed by the name of Gordon.

Many awards are given by individuals or in memory of people. Each award is given for a specific achievement and this is an explanation of what some of the major awards mean.

The Sage Memorial medal, given in memory of a former Bishop, goes to the senior who has shown the greatest development in the school year.

The Effort medal is awarded the Upper School Cadet who has made the greatest effort.

The Cadet rendering the greatest service in the promotion of athletics receives the Fry Athletic medal.

The Rose medal goes to the Upper School new boy making the most satisfactory record during the school year.

A Cadet who by distinct leadership has promoted interest in some activity or organization at the school receives the Activity Leadership medal.

The V. F. W. Citizenship medal is presented to the non-commissioned officer most outstanding in citizenship, based on the fewest number of demerits.

... "a high level of discipline".

MRS. ALICE CLYMER ...
"make more educational and social contacts".

LT. JACK GARDNER ... "I can teach people, not programs".

LT. PAUL SOMMERS ...
"better supervision of study habits".

The Individual, Small Classes Are Private School Advantages

Teaching people not programs, the flexibility of the program, the small classes, and individual attention are all attractions of teaching in a private school according to a panel of four St. John's Military School teachers.

Included in the panel were two first-year teachers at SJMS, the instructor with the longest service and one, a woman, with median tenure.

A teacher for ten years, Jack Gardner has just finished his first year at St. John's. He has a bachelor's degree in math and general science from Ft. Hays State College and a Master's degree in natural science from New Mexico Highlands U. He is interested in all sports particularly basketball and baseball and was the assistant wrestling coach. He also likes to hunt and fish. He is married and his wife, Jola, is a speech therapist in the Salina School system. They have two sons, Dan and Dean.

Known for the time he will spend with Cadets and his "dry wit" is another first year man Paul Sommers, the Guidance Counselor. He taught six years at Sterling, Kans., High School before coming to St. John's. He has a B. S. degree in speech and psychology and a M. S. in educational counseling. His hobbies include woodworking, singing and playing the guitar. He and his wife, Ann, also a talented musician, are the parents of two sons, David and Steven.

Mrs. John (Alice) Clymer has a B. S. degree in natural sciences from the University of Nebraska. She has nine years of teaching experience with four and a half of those years in the St. John's Lower School. Her interests are sports, her three children, playing bridge and traveling.

Russell L. Guernsey has been at St. John's so many years he's not sure whether it's 23 or 24. He holds the title of Commandant Emeritus having been Commandant at St. John's for 13 years. Now chairman of the Science Department, he has a B. S. degree from the University of California and earned his M. S. degree in biology from Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia. His hobbies are athletics, duplicate bridge and fishing. He assisted the basketball program this year as "B" team coach.

The following is their conversation about "what it's like to teach in a private school."

Lt. Sommers—"The major advantage is the small class which encourages individual attention for the student.

Lt. Col. Guernsey—"Every Tuesday and Wednesday at 3:30 p. m., the teachers are in the classroom to help the student or to call for them if they need additional help.

Lt. Gardner—"In this situation there is a better chance to really know the students."

Lt. Sommers—"I'm impressed by the educational quality of the teachers here. This certainly isn't true of all schools. The teachers have acquired many extra hours of study in their particular subject areas. St. John's has no first year teachers. Too often the student loses for a few years until a new teacher gains experience."

Mrs. Clymer—"The percentage of teachers holding master's degrees at St. John's is very high".

Lt. Col. Guernsey—"There is certainly a high level of discipline in a private school as compared to a public high school."

Mrs. Clymer—"And the discipline is consistent. It doesn't change from one day to the next. The student knows what to expect".

Lt. Sommers—"The vehicle which handles the discipline is of course the military department. Having a student 24 hours each day makes for better supervision of study habits. Cadets give up girls, cars, lovely homes for academics when they come here which will prove more valuable to their development in the long run."

Mrs. Clymer—"A student whose parents move frequently can continue with continuity no matter how many times the family is transferred."

Lt. Col. Guernsey—"When students wear a uniform, they are all treated as equals. We have some parents who are scratching the bottom of the barrel to send their son here and then we have parents who are wealthy enough to buy the school. But we, the teachers, don't know the difference and aren't concerned."

Lt. Sommers—"Because of the smallness, we are more flexible. We can work students into reading programs, vocational technical schools and "Y" athletic events."

Mrs. Clymer—"Educational and social contacts are made because our student body comes from many states and countries with a variety of backgrounds and experiences."

Lt. Col. Guernsey—"Parents are better informed because grades are sent home every four weeks. In the public schools, a parent learns about his child about three times a year and often it may be too late to salvage the year. Classroom preparation is helped by required study hall five nights a week."

Mrs. Clymer—"A boy is rewarded for improvement in his academic work by special privileges. It helps a boy to learn responsibility and to mature."

Lt. Gardner—"I think most Cadets, even if they dislike certain aspects of the program, will admit the program helps."

Lt. Sommers—"The important thing is to find some way every Cadet can be an achiever."

Lt. Gardner—"And here there is a chance for every boy to participate. In schools in small communities sports are the most important thing in the high school, here the program is kept in its proper role. The thing I have enjoyed about St. John's is that I've been able to start teaching people and not just 'programs'. Every Cadet can find some person or teacher with whom he can relate."

Lt. Sommers—"I think schools such as this instill some patriotism."

Lt. Col. Guernsey—"I think we should point out that we aren't training soldiers. Military Science is offered as an academic course. The military is the vehicle for discipline. We're not pro-war just because we have ROTC."

The following answers were given in response to the question: "Is this younger generation different?"

Lt. Col. Guernsey—"They have more freedom than several years ago."

Mrs. Clymer—"They aren't afraid to question our standards. They certainly have travelled more."

Lt. Gardner—"They may not be more rebellious but they certainly are more outspoken about the way they feel."

Lt. Col. Guernsey—"They may be better informed due to improved communication but that may not mean they have all the correct answers."

Letters Awarded Young Cadets

School letters for participation in Lower School track have been awarded according to Lt. Gary O. Tucker, Athletic Director.

Seventh graders earning letters were Glen Lundgren, Geoff Morris, Douglass Putney, Stuart Zager, Brad Sidles and Gary Bockhorst.

The managers were Rod Gabriel, Mark Gunson and Walter Webb.

Three More "Old Boys"

Three more Cadets were added to the ranks of the "old boys" shortly before Commencement. They are Gary Fisk, Mike Wait, and Mark Spiess. All were promoted to the rank of private first class.

Golf Letters Awarded

Golf letters have been awarded according to Lt. Gary O. Tucker, Athletic Director.

Earning A-team letters were Curt Jones, Bob Killebrew and Robert Thomas. B-team awards went to Ray Garvey, Jim Nachman, Steve Campbell and Steve Marsh.
