ROTC Celebrates 150th Anniversary, Nov. 9-15

The U. S. Army and the Kansas Army ROTC units celebrated the 150th anniversary of military training on the nation's college and university campuses during the week of November 9 through November 15 said Maj. James Hamilton, Senior Army Instructor at St. John's.

"The Army ROTC Program continues the proud tradition started at Norwich University which was organized in 1819 as the first civilian college offering military instruction to its students," Colonel Philip H. Riedel, Professor of Military Science at the University of Kansas, said.

In Kansas, four universities and three secondary schools including St. John's offer Army ROTC leadership training to students.

The oldest of these programs is at Kansas State University at Manhattan. This university, a land grant school organized under the Morrill Act of 1862, has offered military training since the opening of the school in 1863.

Formal ROTC programs were initiated at Kansas University at Lawrence and Wichita State University in 1919 under the National Defense Act of 1916.

Prior to the 1916 Act, officers trained at universities had to take examinations in order to receive commissions in the Armed Service. Today's graduate is awarded an officer's commission upon completion of the ROTC requirements and receipt of a baccalaureate degree.

Secondary schools with Junior ROTC Programs are Leavenworth High School, St. John's Military School, Salina and St. Joseph's Military Academy, Hays.

Numerous activities were planned by the schools to celebrate this anniversary.

The history of ROTC has been marked by excellence and success from its very beginning. Over 50,000 ROTC officers served in World War I and 100,000 in World War II. Approximately 168 Army Generals from ROTC are now serving on active duty.

The relationship of success and Army ROTC training is indicated by a recent analysis of several groups of national leaders. From a relatively small number of college graduates who had ROTC training . . . approximately five per cent . . . came 24 per cent of the governors of our fifty states, 33 per cent of the Army's Generals and 28 per cent of business executives earning over $100,000 a year.

Widely publicized dissent against ROTC has had little effect upon the overall program. There are now 15 more universities with Army ROTC than prior to the troubles of last year.

Marsh Heads Junior NHS

Steve Marsh is the president of the junior National Honor Society in the Lower School. Other officers are Kenneth Harper, vice president; Mark Harper, secretary, and Arthur Leach, treasurer.

The group held its first meeting Oct. 30 and discussed new members and a meeting time.

Positions filled by other members are Mark Thomas, pencil sales; Bart Day, junior NHS booth for All-School carnival, and Dale Grace, coke machine.

The society has a club room in Parkview Hall that has been furnished with chairs, sofas and a television set. The former Mize Hall drapes were used as curtains.

Mrs. Alice Clymer is the faculty sponsor.

Cadets Fire M-14; View Tanks at Fort

Facilities and training procedures were viewed by the St. John's ROTC Cadet Corps on a visit to the 24th Infantry Division (mechanized) at Ft. Riley, Saturday, Oct. 18.

The Cadets traveled to the Fort by bus under the command of Maj. James H. Hamilton, Senior Army Instructor, and staff members of the Military Department. The Cadets were welcomed by the Commanding officer of Company C, Second Battalion, 24th Infantry, the host unit.

The first event was familiarization and firing of the M-14 rifle. Besides firing the weapons, the Cadets received concurrent training and were treated to cake, coffee and hot chocolate.

The group then moved to the Vietnamese Village, a training facility used in preparing soldiers for Vietnam. A Cadre from the Fifth Army Non-commissioned Officers Academy, all of whom are Vietnam veterans, presented instructions and a skit on the techniques used in dealing with Vietnamese civilians in clearing a village.

Lunch was served in the mess hall of "Charlie" company.

After lunch everyone was taken to the gunnery range. Here an armored company was firing the main guns (105 mm) for record. The Cadets were allowed to enter and inspect the tanks. The tanks were M-60 medium tanks, standard in the Army. These tanks weigh 50 tons each and are armed with the 105 mm main gun, a 50 caliber and a 7.62 mm machine gun.

The weather was cold and rain fell, but the Cadets received some insights into the life and training of an Army soldier.

Lower School Places 4th In Flag Football League

The St. John's Lower School finished fourth in the Tri-County flag football race. The young Cadets lost their last two games of the season.

Playing at Sacred Heart in Salina, Oct. 16, the B-Team was defeated 20-0 and the A-Team lost a close one, 14-12, on a rain-soaked field. The high point of the game was a punt return by Tom Jacobs for 53 yards and a touchdown.

Gypsum defeated the A-Team 21-14 on the Cadets' home field Oct. 24. The junior Cadets scored three TD's in the first quarter only to have one called back. Jacobs scored both touchdowns—one on a 30-yard run and the other when he caught a pass from Arthur Leach.

Coach Bruce Cummings said that he substituted freely in that final game allowing every member of the squad to get in some playing time.
