Brochure Explains "Mule-skinners"

A brochure explaining "The Mule-Skinners" club at St. John's Military School has been printed and mailed to "old boys" and prominent business and professional men throughout the nation.

"The Mule-Skinners" was formed in August of 1967 to provide funds for capital improvements. In the U. S. Army during the early history of our country, the mule-skinner was the wagon driver who was dedicated to the job of getting supplies through to the fighting men on the field. It was through this group's loyalty and support that armies were often successful.

The $100-a-year-club has provided money for the completion of the Spencer Cadet Center and underwrote the renovation of the kitchen in Nichols Hall at a cost of $52,000.

More Cadets Make "Old Boy"

Several Cadets have been examined and found to be qualified as "old boys". They were also promoted to the rank of private first class.

They are Bill Scheer, David Elsner, Peter Kimball, Douglas Kirkendoll, Roger Paul, and Mitchel Scharff.

3 More "Old Boys"

Three Cadets were found to be qualified to be "old boys". They are Tim Love, Dale Nix and David Sloss. They were also promoted to the rank of private first class.

Study! Study! Say Recent Graduates

... To The Seniors

"Study, study, study, and study some more" is the general advice the graduates of the School would give to Senior Cadets.

Lt. Paul Sommers, Guidance Counselor, queried graduates from the classes of 1965-1970. One of the questions was "What advice do you have to give this year's graduating class?"

Robert McClain, '65, said, "Obtain all education possible while attending SJMS". Bill Payne, from the same class, said, "St. John's has given me a dual education. The formal one helps in fields of academic study and the informal one will help you in life."

Con Schaefer recommended, "If in doubt, don't start at the big university. You can always transfer once you get acquainted with college work".

From the class of '66, Tom Pickell said, "Go to college. You don't have a prayer without it." Stevie Stevens said: "Study". Kirk Weillepp stated, "Strive to find 'your thing' as soon as possible. You can waste a lot of time if you don't, and then get a good education in that field".

Mike Mullen, '67, said "Make the best of every opportunity and build a life of your own. Life isn't an easy thing". Pete Pappas also recommended selecting a smaller college. Tom Sadler said, "Keep up with everything. Don't put off to tomorrow what you can do today". Oscar Olivo and John Phillips, both of the class of '68, said "Study".

And from the Class of '69: Tony Bell said, "Get an education. I tried the common man's work and it's a tough road to haul." Tom Byers commented, "Do as well as you can in what you want to do." Doug Harwager philosophized, "Stop, look at what you were before and what you are now and decide what you will be. Also keep the faith." Ron Robacker said, "you can do anything you want to, if you really want to achieve it." Joe Ward said, "Don't abuse your new-found freedom after high school... that's where you'll fall and it's hard to stand back up." Jeff Woodall stated, "Set a goal and work for it."

The Class of '70, although just beginning a life away from St. John's, had some comments to make.

Billy Harrington thinks we should win more basketball games but in a more serious tone said, "Don't think that after you graduate, life is going to be one big party."

Fred Rogge thinks that since military life is almost inevitable, learn as much as possible through the ROTC program. Phil Smith wants everyone to study so they will graduate and Bob Toombs recommends that all members plan to attend college.

St. John's Takes Cage Opener 67-54

The St. John's Cadets, with a total team effort, ran past Wichita Collegiate, 67-54, Friday, Dec. 4 in their cage opener.

The Cadets' first-half attack was led by Dave Donoho. The Omaha senior posted six field goals in the first quarter and collected another nine in the second. He earned high point honors with 25.

Dwight Bruening, the Cadet captain, broke the scoring ice with a three-point combination with 7:40 left in the first quarter. Bruening collected 20 points to even the scoring.

Collegiate's Jack Chesky brought the visitors within a point at 7:12 with an outside fielder. A field goal by Donoho and a free throw by Bill Griffith began widening the victory gap.

The Cadets opened with a zone defense but after watching the first quarter lead slip from 14-8 to 14-12 Coach Gary Tucker called for man-to-man defense which the Cadets maintained most of the game.

Halftime showed the Cadets with a 36-28 edge.

Jay Heese, a SJMS letterman, entered the game late in the second quarter, subbing for starting sophomore Steve Phillips. Recuperating from a severely-sprained ankle, Heese led the third quarter scoring.

St. John's, hampered by penalties last season, collected only 10 fouls in the game with no man having more than three.

In Coach Ken Faerber's St. John's debut with the B-team, the Cadets lost 47-24. Mark Faulkner was the only Cadet in double figures with 10 points.

Making the trip were Robert Thomas, president; Dwight Bruening, vice president; John Vnuk, secretary-treasurer; and Craig Coburn.

The club is providing aid to an orphaned child. They will assist with the annual Kiwanis Pancake Festival to be held in the spring.

Cagers Win Another

The St. John's Cadet Cagers continued their perfect season with a 61-55 win over Central Christian of Hutchinson, Tuesday, Dec. 8.

The season's second victory came as the Cadets used the advantage of their superior height to out-rebound the Comets. Dwight Bruening, Jay Heese and David Donoho were the major rebounders.

For the second game in a row, Bruening broke the scoring ice a few seconds into the game with a fielder. The Cadets stacked up a nine-point advantage before the Comets' Larry Kauffman hit the visitors' first fielder with 4:30 on the clock.

Behind the hot hand of Heese, who scored 10 tallies, the Cadets were ahead 17-3 with 1:21 left in the first period.

Donoho, who hit 25 points in the first outing, hit for 26 in the game. Heese, who is still favoring a bad ankle, got 22.

The B-team lost 44-20 to the Comets.
