Do You Use All Your Brain Power?

Suppose that you sat down with a paper and pencil to write out every thing you remembered including names of people you know or have heard about, experiences from childhood on, plots of books and films, descriptions of jobs you have held, your hobbies and so on.

This is hardly a game worth starting because even if you wrote 24 hours a day, you'd be at it for an estimated 2,000 years!

The human brain's storage capacity is about 10 million units of information compared with the four million units of the most advanced computer.

Experts have found that half an hour of acute boredom can burn up more nervous energy than a whole day's work.

About 2,500 years ago Socrates issued the warning to "Know thyself" and it is still just as important to us today as it was then. Most of us have the tendency to take ourselves for granted. It is tragic but true that the majority are born, grow up, and die without ever tapping the hidden powers of their minds and bodies.

But this need not be the case.

A person who is willing to devote some time and effort to know himself better, to act with more power and conviction can reach more of his personal goals and full potential.

Science Class Visits Halstead Health Museum

The exhibits and demonstrations at the Kansas Health Museum, Halstead, Kansas, were of great interest to the seventh and eighth graders in the Advanced Science Class. Lt. Col. R. L. Guernsey, Science department head, teaches the class.

Of special interest were the electro-cardiograph, the transparent replica of the human body with explanation of all the organs and their functions, and the "breath machine."

One Cadet thought the lecture on growing physically, mentally and socially was the highlight of the trip. The lecturer pointed out that growth in these areas was like a triangle because all sides should be equal for a well-developed person.

Basketball Team Ends Regular Season With a Win

In its final regular game of the season, the Cadet basketball team blasted Ell-Saline, 88-38, in the Cadet gym, Feb. 19. Leading the attack was 6-5 center Jay Heese with 33 points.

Dave Donoho and Bill Griffith both hit 15 for St. John's.

The Cadets never trailed in the game as Heese's 10 points dominated the 18-12 Cadet lead in the first quarter. With nine more tallies, Heese helped push St. John's lead to 20 by half.

Even after substituting the majority of B-team players early in the fourth quarter, the Cadets outscored the Cardinals in the fourth quarter. Heese joined the B-teams late in the last period, but with an over-anxious hand missed the School's all time scoring mark.

The B-team won its second game of the season behind Steve Phillip's 24 points, 55-48. Their only other win was also over the Cardinals. Mark Faulkner hit 17 for the Cadets.

ST. JOHN'S—53

ST. GEORGE—61

St. George won its second game over the St. John's Cadets 61-53 Feb. 12 in the St. George gym.

St. George took a narrow 14-9 first quarter lead, then whipped in 27 points in the second frame and raced away to a 41-13 half-time advantage.

The Cadets outshot St. George the last half but could never recover from the second period.

St. John's was led by Dave Donoho with 20 points, Jay Heese followed with 12.

ST. JOHN'S—68

LUCKEY HIGH—74

Luck was with Luckey High of Manhattan in the St. John's gym Feb. 16 as it fought back from as much as a 13-point deficit to slide by the Cadet cage team, 74-68.

Luckey High was rated sixth among the Class 1A schools in the state.

St. John's opened the game with six straight points and moved to a 20-12 first quarter lead. The Cadets increased their edge during the second period but Tim Weixleman of Luckey, the game's high scorer with 34, pulled the Cardinals within five at halftime.

Weixleman tied the game at 48-48 with 30 seconds left in the third quarter and Luckey took a 52-48 lead at the end of that period. Dave Donoho, the Cadets' high man with 21 points, tied the game with 1:45 left before Luckey regained the lead.
