ROTARY TO MEET AT SJMS

The Salina Rotary Club will hold its regular luncheon meeting at 12:15 p.m. Oct. 28 in Nichols Dining Hall. Salina civic clubs occasionally meet at the School and learn of current events and activities.

TO TAKE ACTS

Sixteen senior Cadets will take the American College Tests Oct. 19 at Kansas Wesleyan in Salina. The tests are used for college admission purposes. Another group of 14 Cadets will take the tests on Dec. 14.

The 87th Cadet Corps Is Biggest and Best

... In Five Years

Opening Day enrollment at St. John's Military School was up nearly 30 percent this year, according to Col. Keith G. Duckers, Superintendent. Classes began Sept. 2 with 161 Cadets, compared with 124 on opening day last year. Late enrollments have pushed the figure to 170.

Colonel Duckers, former president of the Association of Military Colleges and Schools in the United States, said he believes this will be the largest percentage increase in any of the surviving military schools in the country. He said, "During the past decade more than half of the military schools have ceased to exist." St. John's is the only school of its type between Lexington, Mo., and the west coast, with the exception of state-supported New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell.

Colonel Duckers added, "I feel that the increase is because the 'anti' trend toward the military and the establishment is over. Many parents are realizing that many of the experimental programs in public schools have not provided the educational experience their children need. They are looking for other alternatives to provide quality education."

The Cadets in the 87th Corps come from 20 States, Puerto Rico, Guatemala, Trinidad and Costa Rica. Kansas has the largest delegation with 57, of which 21 are from Wichita. Colorado follows with 36.

Other states are Arizona, Arkansas, California, Iowa, Indiana, Illinois, Hawaii, Michigan, Montana, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Texas, Ohio, Washington and Wyoming.

Nine groups of brothers totaling 22 Cadets are attending, including three sets of identical twins. The brothers are Ernesto, Abel, Arnaldo, and Ariel Anaya; Dan and Dick Barbour; Tim, Todd and Mike Clift; Julio and Carlos Chocano; Terry and Calvin Dawdy; Dan and Sean Lynch; Lance and Mike Page; Gary, Larry and Jeff Santillanes, and Jim and Kevin Wellman.

Six Cadets have older brothers who were graduated from St. John's and several Cadets are the sons of "old boys".

87th Corps Organized

The Table of Organization for the 87th Corps of Cadets has been announced by Lt. Col. Paul H. Kellogg, Commandant.

Lt. Col. Jim Wellman is the Battalion commander. His executive officer is Maj. Greg Paul.

Company Commanders are 1st Lt. Robin Clary, Headquarters; Capt. Steve Miller, "A"; Capt. Bill Hanna, "B", and 2nd Lt. Gary Cavey, "C".

Sgt/Maj. Mark Huber is the Battalion sergeant-major.

Members of the Battalion staff are 1st Lt. Tony Wilson, S-1 and 1st Lt. Scott Metzler, S-4. The S-2 and S-3 are unassigned.

Double Vision

Teachers and staff are seeing double this year with these three sets of twins enrolled. To add to the confusion, two of the sets of twins are from the same family. Here, one brother of each pair admires his twin's new uniform. The Cadets are (starting from front pair) Ariel and Arnaldo Anaya, eighth graders; Gary and Larry Santillanes, freshmen, and Abel and Ernesto Anaya, seniors. (Photo courtesy of Fritz Mendell)

The Greatest Loss Was Freedom Says Bataan, Corregidor Survivor

... In Talk to Cadets

"Bataan" and "Corregidor" were just names in a history book to the Cadets until Wednesday evening, Oct. 3. Lt. Col. (Ret.) Jerome A. McDavitt, commander of a unique force, the American Defenders of Bataan and Corregidor, Inc., spoke to the Cadets following evening mess in Nichols Hall.

Col. McDavitt was a guest of Sgt. and Mrs. Dwight Woodall. Sgt. Woodall, a member of the St. John's staff, is a member of that unique group of American war veterans.

Of his prison experience, McDavitt said, "I spent 1247 days hungry. We had fought the Japanese on half-rations. And, I was beaten. But if you add up all the conditions we endured as prisoners they don't amount to a hill of beans compared with the greatest loss we suffered. That was the loss of freedom. No one knows what that means until it has happened to him."

He admonished the Cadets, saying, "If we ever lose any freedom, we will never get it all back. In your lives, don't let someone talk you into something that you know isn't right because you may lose a basic freedom."

He said that three of the greatest years of his military life were spent at Ft. Riley, Kansas. Because of the affection for the Fort, the McDavitt's named their son born there, "Riley".

Both Col. McDavitt and Sgt. Woodall were captured by the Japanese with the fall of the Philippines in 1942. Until the war in the Pacific ended, they were prisoners.

There are about 3000 of the defenders of Bataan and Corregidor left alive, said McDavitt, who lives in retirement in San Antonio, Tex. There had been over 23,000 in the American forces in the Islands when the Japanese struck following Pearl Harbor.

McDavitt dramatically unveiled a flag made of parachute cloth at the close of his talk. We raised this flag on the Sanctuary. We made it from parachute cloth that brought us the first American food we had eaten in 3½ years.

Neither McDavitt or Woodall were involved in the infamous Death March on Bataan and are quick to point this out.

"There are few survivors of that," McDavitt said. Woodall was captured on Mindanao in the Philippines. He remembers it was Mother's Day, May 10, 1942. After a 62-day ocean voyage, he reached his prison in Japan on Armistice Day, Nov. 11, 1942.

McDavitt spent much of his interment in the Philippines, but was finally sent to Japan where he was an officer-in-charge of about 250 American prisoners. "We brought back all but eight of them alive. The eight who died came back as ashes in little boxes."

In the intervening years, he visited the families of the eight dead, offering to talk with them about their sons. He and two other officers kept records in notebooks during prison days, and even now, 30 years later, he recalls names and faces.

A special guest at the dinner was Heinrich Goedecke, a German who was a prisoner of war of the Americans. He was captured in Africa and was interned in Concordia, Kans. and later in Arizona. Several years after the war, Goedecke came back to Kansas and is now an American citizen. He has established a well-known wrought iron custommade craft shop in Salina.

The Time To Act Is Now

Today, when so many small privately-supported schools are having such a tough time making both ends meet, it is time for more of the people who appreciate the importance of preserving such schools to stand up and be counted — and to speak out eloquently with their checkbooks.

Our tax-supported public schools can get the money they need from the public pocketbooks. But if these smaller, privately-supported schools are to get the money they need — desperately — it will have to come from private pocketbooks.

How important are such schools?

What special role do they play in America's educational system? Listen to Albert Einstein:

"The school should always have as its aim that the young man leave it as a harmonious personality, not as a specialist. . . It is essential that he acquire an understanding of and a lively feeling for values. He must acquire a vivid sense of the beautiful and of the morally good. . . The development of general ability for independent thinking and judgement should always be placed foremost, not the acquisition of special knowledge."

Another great thinker put it this way: "First make the man. He will make the engineer".

Episcopal Presiding Bishop Urges Support of Schools

To Friends of Episcopal Schools:

The schools of the Episcopal Church, numbering almost one thousand, educating the young from pre-school level through high school, deserve the steady prayers and support of the Church. In a complicated age, beset by many problems, the vitality of our schools has been notable. They have increased and strengthened steadily in a day when many other areas of Church life have declined. They are important to the Church and to the nation.

Indeed, our Church schools are an expression of the basic religious freedom of our society. In 1925, Pierce v. the Sisters of Mercy, the United States Supreme Court stated that:

"The fundamental theory of liberty under which all governments in this union repose excludes any general power of the State to standardize its children by forcing them to accept instruction from public teachers only. The child is not the mere creature of the State; those who nurture him and direct his destiny have the right, coupled with the high duty, to recognize and prepare him for additional obligations."

Religious and scriptural terms the matter is even more basic. No task that we have is more essential than the Christian education of our young. From the earliest parts of the Old Testament to the latest of the New Testament, we are taught that God is the fountain of all wisdom; surely that must be the foundationstone of our education. It is the reason for our Church schools.

I count it a personal blessing that important years of my ministry were spent as the head of an Episcopal School. This experience underlines my conviction that -- this year and always -- our schools must have the encouragement and confidence of the Church.

Faithfully yours,
John M. Allin

New Food Service Runs "Mess"

The food service in Nichols Dining Hall is being operated by Broughton Food Service, Marietta, Ohio, for the 1974-75 School year. Directing the SJMS operation for Broughton is Ed O'Dowd.

O'Dowd was food service director at Kansas Technical Institute at the Schilling Industrial area for the past nine years and comes to the School highly recommended.

Broughton operates the service at KTI and also at Kansas Wesleyan.

Col. Keith G. Duckers, Superintendent, said, "I am impressed with the immaculate condition of the dining hall and kitchen. The food is attractively served and the wide variety of meals provides for interesting eating experiences."

Old Boy's Flag Flies Over Campus

Special flag raising ceremonies were held at noon Sept. 17 to commemorate the death of Ralph L. Young, Class of '46. His mother, Mrs. Oreta Young, Denver, sent the flag which covered his casket with the request that it be flown over St. John's Military School on the anniversary of his death each year.

A SJMS second lieutenant, Mr. Young was killed in action, Sept. 17, 1950, while serving with General Douglas MacArthur's forces in Inchon during the Korean War. He was a private first class in the U.S. Marine Corps.

After the flag raising ceremony, Lt. Col. Paul H. Kellogg, Commandant, lead the 87th Corps in a moment of silent tribute followed by the playing of "Taps" with echo by the Cadet buglers.

Mrs. John Fonck, Administrative Assistant, suggested that others having such flags may wish to send them to the School. It has been suggested that the flags could be placed in stands around the "bullring" on special occasions at the School.

Salina Librarians Meet at SJMS

Methods of library orientation were shared by all librarians in Salina at a meeting hosted by Mrs. Martha Lohmann, SJMS Librarian, Oct. 10 in the Clem Library.

Attending the meeting, held at 4:30 p.m., were librarians from the Salina public school system, both secondary and elementary, the Salina City library, Kansas Wesleyan, Marymount College, Kansas Technical Institute and the Vocational Technical School. The librarians were invited to be guests of the 87th Corps at dinner in Nichols Dining Hall.

Homecoming Festivities Planned for Oct. 25

A queen, Dad's night and a dance will be the highlights of the third annual Homecoming Festivities at St. John's Military School Friday, Oct. 25.

Application forms for queen candidates are available in the Commandant's Office. A girl must be a freshman, sophomore, junior or senior in high school. The queen will be elected by popular vote of the 87th Corps of Cadets and will be crowned at the half of the SJMS-EII-Saline football game by the Battalion Commander, Jim Wellman and football captain, Greg Paul.

The dance will follow the game in Nichols Dining Hall. Playing for the dance will be the Shag-nasty group from the Salina Musician Local 207.

Dates for the dance will be arranged by the SJMS Ladies club. A tea dance for Cadets and local girls will be held on a Sunday afternoon preceding homecoming festivities.

Fathers of Cadet gridders will be special guests at the game that evening. The Dads will wear the corresponding number of the uniform worn by their sons and will be seated on the sidelines. Cadets whose fathers are unable to attend will be represented by members of the "Muleskinners" Club.

Col. Duckers Named CAPE Representative

Col. Keith G. Duckers, Superintendent, has agreed to serve as the Kansas Representative for the Council of American Private Education (CAPE), a national organization serving as a unifying agency and voice for most of the private elementary and secondary schools in the United States.

CAPE Executive Director Dr. Robert L. Lamborn, announcing the appointment from the Council's Washington, D.C. Headquarters, said, "We are delighted that Colonel Duckers has agreed to act as a contact point for communications between our national organization and the private elementary and secondary schools of Kansas. He will also provide a liaison function with the U.S. Office of Education regional personnel."

Colonel Duckers is a past president of the Association of Military Colleges and Schools in the United States and is a member of the governing board of the National Association of Episcopal Schools.

CAPE'S membership consists of 10 national organizations serving or operating non-profit private elementary and secondary schools which subscribe to nondiscriminatory admissions policies.

Cadet Band To March In American Royal Parade

The Cadet Band is off to a "good start, marching and playing," according to Sgt/IC Teddy Hanmer, Bandmaster. The band plays for retreat parade each Monday and Wednesday evenings following evening mess and plays for a parade each Sunday before the noon meal.

Sgt. Hanmer said that this is the earliest the band has performed in his six years at St. John's.

The Band will play and march in the American Royal parade in Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 19. The parade starts at 9 a.m.

Robin Clary is the bandmaster this year with Tony Wilson as his assistant. Robert Johnson is the band first sergeant and Grant LaMora is the Battalion bugler.

Section leaders are Todd Boerngen, trumpet; Brian Pratt, trombone; Bruce Patterson, percussion; Benson Chapman, piccolo and reed; David Borell, tuba and euphonium and David Dunn, saxophone.

G. Paul Receives Layreader License

Greg Paul received his license to serve as a Layreader in the Episcopal Church Sept. 18. He may read the services and is also licensed to preach sermons of his own choice.

To earn his license, Paul completed the Diocese of Western Kansas Layreader course and successfully passed seven tests. He is one of the youngest people in the United States to earn the license.

Gary Cavey, Battalion Cadet chaplain, is currently working toward his license as a layreader.

TWO GIRLS LEAD THE YELLS

The St. John's cheerleaders this fall are Pam Reed and Ruth Marlow, both of Salina.

Octagon Club
To Help Punters

The Octagon Club, a new club sponsored by the Optimist Clubs, will be assisting the Salina Optimist Club in both the Salina and Eastern Kansas "Punt, Pass and Kick" contest. The national contest is sponsored annually for junior high school boys by the Optimist Club and the Ford Motor Company.

Octagon members assisting are Greg Paul, David Dunn, Steve Miller, Tom Thwaits, Robin Clary, Randy Krueger, Kevin Rasmussen, Ernesto Anaya and John Donati.

Cadets Open Play
With 6 Lettermen

The Cadets opened fall practices with more players than a year ago. Capt. Paul Kellogg jr., Coach, reported 51 players, including freshmen, reported out compared with 35 last year.

Capt. Kellogg returns for his second season as head coach assisted by Larry Lysell. Dale Mellon is not coaching this fall.

St. John's returned six lettermen from last year.

Steve Miller, a senior, is at quarterback, a position he took over from Jimmy Wellman last year when Wellman was hurt in the third game of the season. Miller runs the team's wishbone offense.

The backfield has Greg Paul, a senior and the team captain, at fullback; 150-pound Gary Cavey, a junior letterman, at one running back spot and Wellman at another backfield spot. Cavey is a converted tight end.

John Livingston, who lettered at defensive end as a freshman, took over Cavey's spot at tight end.

Mark Huber, a senior letterman, was the only returning veteran lineman.

The Cadets will host one of the Eisenhower League playoff game.

Team members are Ken Adkerson, Tom Albrecht, Rickv Ander-

Attend State Seminar

Three Cadets are attending the student section of the State Seminar of the Kansas Association for Mental Health in Salina, Oct. 11. Attending are Ernesto Anaya, David Clothier and Robert Johnson.

Greetings Delivered By Canoe

It was Army ROTC week. For at least five Cadets and their Senior Army Instructor it became more than just a week with a name. The five Cadets and Maj. Richard L. Stamm canoed the distance from Salina down the Smoky Hill river into the Kansas River and to the Marshall Air Field Bridge. There they were met by Brig. Gen. Robert L. Arter who was presented greetings from the SJMS Superintendent, Col. Keith G. Duckers. The general is commander of the third ROTC Region encompassing Kansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. Ft. Riley is the headquarters and St. John's is one of the 206 Junior ROTC Units under his command.

Paddling the canoes were Greg Paul, Mark Huber, Ernesto Anaya, Matthew Baker, Steve Miller and Maj. Stamm.

TO SELL LIGHT BULBS

The Cadets, assisted by members of the St. John's Ladies Club, will sell packages of Westinghouse light bulbs again this fall to raise money for homecoming activities and other projects. Mrs. Cindy Ramsey, Latin teacher, is the project coordinator. Bulbs will be sold in Salina, from door-to-door, Sunday afternoon, Oct. 13 and Tuesday evening, Oct. 15.

Curriculum
Expanded

Several new courses were added to the curriculum this fall according to Maj. Kenneth Faerber, Director of Studies/Admissions.

The courses and the instructors are Orientation for Life, Col. Keith G. Duckers; International Relations, Maj. Faerber; Developmental Reading, Capt. Paul Sommers; Media Arts, Mrs. Martha Lohmann; team teaching of Current Science and Advanced Science, Lt. Col. R.L. Guernsey and Mrs. Lois Trump; Micro-Math, Lt. Dale Pierson; Drama, Beverly Baxter; Latin III, Mrs. Cindy Ramsey and Health, Capt. Paul Kellogg jr.

Maj. Faerber said the courses were added to increase the elective selection and also to put members of the administration back in the classroom. By teaching in the classroom, members of the administrative staff are able to develop better communication and cooperation with Cadets.
