Dedication, Dance, Dinner Set For Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving Recess Nears

Thanksgiving festivities at St. John's Military School are expected to draw about 700 parents, friends and other relatives to activities at the school and in Salina, Nov. 23-25.

Col. R. L. Clem, Rector and Superintendent pointed out that activities are held at the school because most Cadets live too far from Salina to justify trips home over this holiday.

Activities will officially begin on Wednesday, Nov. 24 but parents arriving on Tuesday will be permitted to take their sons on parent passes for the evening.

Parents may meet with faculty members during the day on Wednesday. Faculty members will be available in their classrooms for conferences.

Parents are invited to attend the Lower School basketball game with Bennington in the school gym at 1 p.m., Nov. 24.

Open House

Open House and a get-acquainted coffee, sponsored by the St. John's Military School Foundation, will be held at Mize Hall. Parents and other guests will be permitted to tour the recently completed building. Coffee will be served in the Common Room on the Lower Level of Mize Hall.

The Service of Dedication for Mize Hall has been set for 4:30 p.m. with the Rt. Rev. Edward C. Turner, Episcopal Bishop of the Diocese of Kansas and acting president ex-officio of the St. John's Board of Trustees, officiating.

The faculty receiving line at 7:30 p.m. in the 4-H Building, Kenwood Park, will mark the beginning of the traditional Thanksgiving Military Ball. The Grand March will be at 8 p.m. with the crowning of "Miss Sound-Off", year book queen, at 9 p.m.

The Crack Squad will make its initial appearance of the '65-'66 year at 10 p.m.

Music at the dance will be provided by the Viscounts, St. John's combo and the Earl Van Cleef Band. The ball will end at 11:15.

A Service of Holy Communion will be celebrated at 7:15 a.m. on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 25, in Armstrong Chapel. Attendance at the service is not required but Cadets and parents are invited.

The breakfast meeting of the St. John's Military Foundation will be at 8 p.m. at the Ramada Inn.

The Corps of Cadets will march downtown to the Service of Thanksgiving. The Corps under the command of Cadet Maj. Tim Soule will leave the campus at 10:30 a.m. led by the Drum and Bugle Corps. The Thanksgiving Service is at 11:15 a.m. at Christ Episcopal Cathedral with the Rev. Clarence J. Forsberg, Lincoln, Neb., as preacher.

The traditional turkey dinner will be served at 12:30 p.m. at the 4-H building in Kenwood Park. Cadets will be free for the remainder of the day with taps ending the festivities at 9:30 p.m. Classes will resume on a normal schedule at 6:20 a.m. Friday, Nov. 26.

Book Fair Sponsored By NHS

A "book fair" featuring quality paper-back books at low prices will be sponsored by the St. John's Chapter of the National Honor Society during Thanksgiving week, Nov. 22-27.

Cadets will be able to browse through the exhibit of books and then order selections. Vouchers of $4 for Upper School Cadets and $2.50 for Lower School Cadets have been approved by Col. R. L. Clem, Superintendent and Rector, for the purchase of books.

Books will be displayed in Mrs. A. Y. Hardy's English classroom on the second floor of the Clem Library.

Mrs. Hardy said that parents of Cadets here for the Thanksgiving festivities are welcome to attend.

The book fair display will include attractive new books from many publishers. Most prices will be in the 50 cents to $1.25 category.

All reading areas of interest to students will be represented, including classics, fiction, biographies, adventure stories, science, nature, crafts, mystery and reference books.

Mrs. Hardy said these are wonderful books to read or to give as gifts.

The NHS is working with the Educational Reading Service, a professional book fair company, to furnish a selection of books for all Cadet ages and reading levels.

The members of the Lower School Cadet Court have been elected according to Capt. Harold Frazier, Lower School Commandant.

Members of the court are Ed Polumbo, Daryl Hampton, George Jenkins, John Pugh, Rick Barclay, Ben Barr, Drew Adams, Max Morton and David Reed.

Mize Hall - A Dream Come True

Mize Hall is a reality. A long-needed and dreamed of structure to house the Lower School Cadets is now in use. The building stands as a monument to the many friends of the school who were willing to give time and money to make a dream come true. It stands as a tribute to the Board of Trustees who believe so strongly in the future of St. John's Military School that they were willing to risk the incurrence of debt to see the building constructed. And it stands as a memorial to a man who many times during his life fought to keep St. John's Military School going—using his time, talents and money. That man was the Rt. Rev. Robert H. Mize, Bishop of the Episcopal Missionary District of Western Kansas from 1921-1938. The School owes a special expression of thanks to Fund Drive leaders, donors and workers, to members of the Foundation, to parents, alumni and faculty, and to Episcopalians who responded to appeals from their Bishops, for their unselfish support of this project. It is difficult to select individuals from the many who helped so we say "thanks" to all. The hundreds of Salina supporters must not be overlooked for they provided more than one-hundred thousand dollars in the most ambitious Fund Drive ever undertaken by the school. A crisp salute to those friends who made the dream of Mize Hall come true!

Athletic Medal Founder Dies

The founder of the Tinsley C. Fry Athletic Medal, given to the Cadet who has given the greatest service in the promotion of athletics at the school, died April 30 of this year at Monterey Peninsula, Calif. His daughter wrote the school after the death of Mr. Fry to say that "it seems my father's happiest memories were while he was a Cadet at St. John's Military School . . . The enclosed articles will tell you your teachings at St. John's were used in his everyday life." A popular civic leader of the Monterey Peninsula community, Mr. Fry was president of numerous organizations and chairman of many committees dedicated to community betterment on the Peninsula.

Thou Shalt Not Fail

(Editor's Note: The following editorial was judged as the best editorial submitted to the annual high school newspaper contest sponsored by the William Allen White School of Journalism at the University of Kansas.)

By Barbara Newsom
Wichita Southeast Stampede

How many times does a young person hear from his elders that he must "do better" and "be the best?" How many hours does a young person spend worrying about the "right" career to choose for the future, the "right" college to attend or the way to become a "success" as an older generation defines success? Many educators and psychologists of today contend that too much pressure is being applied by adults and that even the most brilliant students eventually crack under the strain. Throughout the nation, the evidence of too much pressure is reflected in the rising number of attempted suicides, and mental physical breakdowns suffered by teenagers. Confusion is the key word from which the problem dangles. Many do not understand the difference between "being the best" and "doing his best." And there is a difference. By definition, half the individuals in any group must be only average or below. Not all students can make "A's" in school. Not all young persons can become doctors, lawyers and physicists. Not all high school graduates can go on to Harvard, Yale or Stanford. Not all college students can make Phi Beta Kappa. Yet, there exists a niche in life for every person and every person is free to discover that niche, if only he will. But can it be discovered? How can it be discovered? Students need time to learn. They need time to enjoy themselves, time to talk with their friends, and time to discover themselves, their particular aptitudes and their special talents. A relaxed, but responsible attitude may be the answer, provided that it is adopted by teenagers and parents alike. A relaxed and easy-going attitude must not be mistaken for a lazy attitude. It simply means that one works hard to do "his best" without worrying about being "the best."

Cadets Move Into New Mize Hall

Moving Day arrived at St. John's Military School on Thursday, Oct. 21.

Lower School Cadets moved into the new Mize Hall that morning.

The junior Cadets had been housed in a building originally built as an Episcopal Hospital, St. Barnabas. When the hospital ceased operation in 1921, the building was converted to use as a barracks building for the younger Cadets.

Members of the freshman class living in Griswold and Sage barracks also moved into the new structure. Moving of the ninth grade from these buildings relieved over-crowded conditions which have existed there for several years.

Bids for the $250,000 building were let Nov. 17, 1964 with construction beginning immediately. Busboom and Rauh are the general contractors with Wilson and Company as the architects.

Four staff members and their families are also housed in the new barracks building. They are Capt. Bruce Cummings, Lower School Director; Capt. Harold Fraizer, Lower School Commandant; Lt. Richard Edington, Director of the Lower School athletic program, and Ed Kleim, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

Two-Cadet rooms house 88 boys on the three levels of the building. A Common Room is provided for general use on the first level of the Hall.

The formal ground-breaking ceremony was held during Thanksgiving festivities last year. The building was named and the cornerstone laid in a ceremony during Commencement activities in May.

The building is named in memory of the Rt. Rev. Robert H. Mize, Bishop of the Episcopal Missionary District of Western Kansas from 1921-1938. Bishop Mize, during his lifetime, served St. John's as a

Involved in the all-night project were members of the Military I, II and III classes.

Lt. Woody Crandall was the field officer of the day with Lt. John Reed III as the officer of the day. Three officers were placed on each floor and assigned four-hour shifts. Six relief units of 25 persons served two hours of duty at various assigned posts on campus.

An aggressor force attempted to invade the campus. Members of the force were Capt. Chris Houghton, Lieutenants Franz Stangl, Jack Light and Kirk Wellepp, 1st/Sgt Terry Trent, Pvt. Ed Ott and Maj. Tim Soule.
