CRACK SQUAD DOES FINE DRILL FOR NEWTON CROWD

MEMBERS WEAR NEW UNIFORMS FOR FIRST TIME AT LOCAL SHOW

The Crack Squad accompanied by some of the faculty, made a trip to Newton, February 13, where they drilled at the City Auditorium as part of a show given by the Newton Lion's Club.

Leaving school soon after lunch the Crack Squad arrived about five o'clock that evening, and had dinner at the new Ripley Hotel. Then the members of the squad were at liberty to do as they wished before dressing to appear for their number. Through the courtesy of the Lion's Club all members of the school party were allowed to attend the theaters in town free of charge.

The Crack Squad gave a very attractive drill, wearing for the first time the complete new uniform. They left Newton a little while after their performance and arrived back at school late that night, very tired but happy. They owe thanks to Colonel Perkins for the privilege of sleeping late the next morning.

Many compliments have been received by the school for this drill. The judges of the show expressed their sentiment that the drill team was without a doubt, the most excellent number and presented to them an honorary first place on the program. The guest numbers of the program were not considered in the competition for various reasons. Many of Newton's populace declared it the best performance of its kind they had ever witnessed.

CAPT. BROWN GIVES PARTY FOR MEMBERS OF SKIRMISHER STAFF

The boys on the Skirmisher staff owe many thanks to Capt. Brown, their sponsor, for the enjoyable party he gave them in the music room on the night of Feb. 4. The fun started at eight o'clock, the boys having been excused from study hall a little earlier than usual.

The first thing was a guessing contest the answers to which were the last names of many of the boys present. Jack Firtenberger emerged victor and received as a prize a box of chocolate covered cherries. The next contest which was a little more strenuous and resulted in the breaking of a chair or two was none other than the old standby "Marching to Jerusalem." George Warren came out first in this endurance test and received also a prize of a box of candy. Then came several other games such as "London Bridge," "Tug o' War," "Hurly-Burly." The last mentioned though very rough was so much enjoyed that the boys wanted to play it a second time.

At ten o'clock everyone went down to the dining room where refreshments of hot "weenies," rolls, and punch were served in cafeteria style. The members of the faculty were invited to partake of the "eats." Then the party broke up, all agreeing that they had spent a most pleasant evening.

Week before last Dean Strong, Mrs. Strong, and Miss Strong took dinner at the school. They were the guests of Chaplain and Mrs. du Domaine.

BISHOP MIZE MEETS WITH SERIOUS AUTO ACCIDENT

On the night of January 27th Bishop Mize, our superintendent, met with a most unfortunate accident. As the Bishop was driving across the Union Pacific tracks on Santa Fe Ave., a man with head down walked into the side of his car. This broke the glass in the front door, and a bit of it got into the Bishop's left eye. He was rushed to the hospital and it was found that the injured organ was in a serious condition, and the sight might be lost altogether. The Bishop is recovering slowly, but there is still some doubt just what the outcome will be. The man who collided with the car also was seriously hurt.

Boys Visit Marymount and Present Program

Glee Club Sings, Orchestra Plays, Crack Squad Drills

On Monday, February 10, the cadets of St. John's left the school late in the morning, to visit Marymount, and to give a program. This program was a return one, because the members of that school gave a program last year, which was enjoyed by all of the cadets.

- Our program was as follows:
- I. Selections: A Merry Life; Anvil Chorus; Singing in the Rain.
By Glee Club
  - II. Bugle Calls: First Call; Pay Day; Church Call; Fire Call; Taps.
By Richard Bagnall
  - III. Selections: Sailing; Song of the Armor; Painting the Clouds with Sunshine.
By Glee Club
  - IV. Instrumental Duet:
Rustic Dance; O Sole Mio.
By Srgts. Marshall and Warren
  - V. Greetings
By Chaplain A. L. du Domaine
  - VI. Selections: Flag of Truce; Sparkling Eyes; Mozart's Minuet.
By Orchestra
  - VII. Violin Solo: Song of Love.
By Sgt. Marshall
  - VIII. Clarinet Solo: Rosary
By Sgt. Warren
  - IX. Mouth Harp Solo:
By Capt. R. R. Shideler
  - X. Crack Squad Drill:
Under supervision of Capt. Jeannin
  - XI. School Hymn:

CADETS ATTEND WELL KNOWN PLAY BY J. M. BARRIE AT GRAND THEATER

The cadet corps attended a play, "What Every Woman Knows," by Sir James Barrie, at the Grand theatre on Feb. 12.

The opening scenes of the play are laid in Scotland, and Barrie has taken for his characters the Scotch whom he knows so intimately. There are three bachelor brothers who are greatly troubled because their sister, Maggie, is not being sought after in marriage, and they essay the role of matchmakers. A marriage is consummated, and Maggie tries to overcome the weakness of her husband.

The plot hinges around the little Scotch woman attempting to make her husband

NOVELTY ENTERTAINERS GIVE SHOW IN SCHOOL GYM

Several weeks ago the Novelty Entertainers gave a program in the school gym for the benefit of the faculty members and the Cadet Corps.

This troupe was composed of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Gerald, of Dallas, Texas. They presented several dialogues, songs, and readings; and also put on a one act play. Mr. Gerald presented several good jokes. The cadet corps can not yet understand why Capt. Jeannin and Miss Dorothy Perkins turned all colors of the rainbow when the story was told about the country fellow who called on his sweetheart Miss Perkins and had his arm . . . y clothes on.

Glee Club Sings for Junior High Pupils

Colonel Perkins Gives Brief Talk, Bagnall Sounds Calls

The Glee Club, under the direction of Capt. Shideler, gave its first program of the year before the seventh and eighth grades of the Salina schools in the Lincoln building on January 31.

The program began about two o'clock with everyone singing America. The Glee Club then sang a group of songs such as, "Singing in the Rain," "Song of the Armor," and "Sailing," which were followed by a brief talk by Colonel Perkins on St. John's School.

Preceding the next group of songs Cadet Bagnall, leader of the bugle corps, blew several calls to give the Lincoln students some idea of the daily routine at St. John's. The Glee Club ended the program with the school song.

TWO NEW SUBJECTS COMMENCE WITH SECOND SEMESTER

At St. John's School the academic year is divided into two semesters. The first semester came to an end on January 25 at which time two half year courses—Constitutional History and Civic Science—were finished. In their places a course in Economics was started under Capt. Simpson and a course in Physical Geography under Coach McLean.

Economics is offered only to Seniors, but Physical Geography, though a Freshman subject, may be taken by who ever is interested.

Mr. Wead of Omaha recently spent two days here with his son Cadet Wead.

CADETS WIN FROM BENNINGTON HI ON OWN FLOOR

ARNETT COMES THROUGH WITH THREE BASKETS TO WIN GAME

The St. John's cadets defeated Bennington 22-18 Friday night, February 7th, in a hard fought game on St. John's floor. It was one of the most hotly contested affairs the cadet team has had this season.

In the first half neither team was able to gain much of a lead. There were successive baskets made by both teams, several times tying each other. The first half ended with the cadet's leading 7-5.

The second period started with Bennington's bagging three baskets bringing the score up to 7-11. The cadets then made a few baskets, Bennington following by a streak of luck. With four minutes left to play Bennington was leading by one point, 16-15. Then things began to happen. Arnett, cadet forward, broke loose from his guard and made a hit which put his team ahead a point. Bennington brought their score up to 18 all, but Arnett still responded to the urge for points and made two more baskets which won the game by four points.

Jeannin usually high scorer for the cadets was expelled at the third quarter for too many fouls.

The cadet second team previously unbeaten, lost a 19 to 10 game to Bennington's seconds.

WHY NOT SUNDAY VESPERS?

St. John's School has a chapel of which it may well be proud. Upon entering one can hardly help from being filled with a spirit of awe and veneration. Even at midday it is a region of semidarkness, for the sun penetrating through the stained glass windows lights up dimly the beautiful altar, the pews, the choir stalls, and the concave Gothic ceiling.

Every week day morning a short service is held in the chapel, but on Sundays the cadets are required to attend the eleven o'clock service at the Cathedral downtown. The Sunday eight o'clock celebration of the Holy Communion in the chapel at which attendance is optional does not attract many boys. Those who are present, must on two Sundays in the month, sometimes three, listen to a repetition of the same service when they later go to the Cathedral at eleven o'clock.

Although there are many advantages in attending the Cathedral—the boys cannot fail to obtain much good from Dean Strong's excellent sermons, and it is beneficial for them to come in contact with Salina church people—still it does seem a pity that the boys cannot occasionally have in their own chapel a Sunday service that is really and truly their own. Why could not Vesper services be held once or twice a month in our chapel? At these services Bishop Mize, Chaplain du Domaine, Dean Strong, and other clergymen in the neighborhood could give talks which were especially prepared to help boys meet their various problems.

St. John's boasts of a Glee Club of unusual excellence. Why could not its members prepare anthems suitable to be sung at Vespers? People from town might be interested enough to come out to these services. An objection might be made that our chapel is small and can only comfortably accommodate the student body, but if the Glee Club sat up in the choir, this would give ample room for visitors unless there were very many.

Spring is coming and Sunday afternoons will find parades and other activities on the campus. Why can we not add to these an occasional Vesper service?

BISHOP MIZE'S ACCIDENT

During the last week in January a dark cloud suddenly appeared on the horizon, casting its shadow over a large area, St. John's school being included. Bishop Mize, our superintendent had met with a bad accident in which one of his eyes was badly injured and it was not known what complications might set in. The hearts of all persons connected with St. John's went out in sympathy to their dear friend in his hour of great trouble.

St. John's school has never had a better friend than Bishop Mize. In his young manhood he spent many years as its head, working untiringly for its advancement and building it up from a mere handful to a large number of students. After being called away to serve the church elsewhere, he later returned as Bishop of the Diocese, and two years ago became superintendent of St. John's. St. John's has been called by many persons the Bishop's hobby. Ever since he became superintendent, he has resided at the school a great part of the time.

Bishop Mize is very unselfish, the chief aim of his life being to serve others. He is continually doing things for the boys. Not many weeks ago he invited the entire Senior Class to go as his guests to see the Hamper-Mantell Players in "Macbeth." At Christmas time he gave presents to the boys who remained at school. Many other instances of his generosity might be given.

It seems a shame that a man of such a character should have to undergo so great an affliction. All persons at St. John's are deeply interested in his recovery, and every bit of encouraging news is received with great joy.

The St. John's Ghost

Part II

By ARMAND DE BEQUE

Leo whipped up the horse, for it seemed to him that Una, who was sitting on the seat beside him, had given a slight shiver. The night was chilly, and he did not want her to take cold. They would reach St. John's now in just a few minutes. If they could only slip into their rooms without being seen! What would Col. Nemo say if he saw them together at this time of night, especially after he had just forbidden them to speak to each other?

"Leo," murmured Una nervously, "you never should have taken the risk. I don't care about myself, but if you are caught you will be reduced to ranks and maybe expelled."

"Never mind, girlie," Leo cheerfully answered. "We won't get caught. Besides a fellow will risk anything to be with his girl."

But Una felt far from easy in her mind and realized both of them were acting most imprudently. Leo had slipped out after taps, stolen the school horse and buggy, and driven to town to keep a date with her at the home of a girl friend. He had been prevented from coming earlier on account of duties on the campus. As Una's girl friend had been suddenly taken ill, she had decided to drive back to St. John's with Leo despite the lateness of the hour.

"I hope Octave doesn't see us come in," said Una. "She is all the time sneaking around at night, and she would go straight to father. How she hates me." Una paused; then she continued, "Leo, I believe she knows something about that ghost which has been prowling around lately and causing so much concern. She mentioned the ghost to me the other day and gave me the queerest look. It seemed to me there was something hidden back of her sneering face. And yesterday at dinner when Capt. Decimal and father were talking about the ghost—I am sure they were for they were speaking so low—Octave put her hand to her eye and winked at Lieut. Borack at the next table. I believe this was some kind of signal referring to old Isaac or the cards upon which the letter 'I' had been burnt."

"Borack?" Leo exclaimed. "That beats the Dutch! Wouldn't it be funny if he and Octave were playing some ghost game together? He's not above it. He's a down and out sneak—afraid to look people in the eye. And he hates me too! How it hurt him when I was promoted over him!"

Leo laughed. "Octave or Borack—which is the ghost?" he said slowly.

* * * * *

"Sh! Sh!" Leo pulled Una into the shadow of the great stairs. They had paused a moment to say goodnight, and now someone was creeping in the front door through which they had just entered. Were they going to be caught now when they were so nearly safe? At once both recognized the tall form of Octave. Her sharp eyes almost seemed to glitter in the darkness. She paused at the foot of the stairs as if undetermined just what to do; then she softly glided down the hallway. Una and Leo could not tell whether she went up the other stairs or descended to the basement. They were not sure, but they thought they heard someone moving around in the hall above. Claspings each

"Dropping, dropping, dropping,
dropping
Hear the pennies fall."

This is from an old Sunday school song which the children sing when they march around the room and put their pennies in the collection plate.

Boys rooming near Jeannin and Hays R. hear a continual dropping. But it is not pennies this time. A tiny pool table stands in their room and the boys using it generally are such good shots that nine balls out of every ten fall on the floor.

I know a young fellow named Sid,—
A handsome young fellow named Sid,—
A gracious young fellow named Sid,—
An elegant young fellow named Sid,—
An appealing young fellow named Sid.—
And what do you suppose he did,—
What terrible thing he did,—
What shocking thing he did,—
What awful thing he did,—
What monstrous thing he did?
Who? This sturdy young fellow named Sid,—

This stalwart young fellow named Sid,—
This valiant young fellow named Sid,—
This fearsome young fellow named Sid.—
Oh, shall I tell you what he did,—
This honorable young fellow named Sid?
Oh, should I tell you what he did,—
This righteous young fellow named Sid?
Oh, must I tell you what he did,—
This upright young fellow named Sid?
Why—why—nothing at all he did! ! !

SECOND DANCE OF SEASON IS BRILLIANT AFFAIR

The second dance of the school year was held on the night of January 25 in the gymnasium under the supervision of Capt. Simpson. The building had been artistically decorated so as to resemble a military camp. The "pup tents" standing in the corners before which lanterns burned produced a most unique effect.

At nine o'clock the dancing started with a Grand March in which every one took part. Capt. Caldwell of the class of '29 was one of the members of the jazz orchestra furnishing the music. Col. Perkins directed several circle dances which produced much merriment at the same time providing opportunities for making new acquaintances.

At eleven o'clock delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Midnight came all too soon with its "farewells" and "expressions of good times." The cadets saw their young ladies home in taxis, and more than one couple stopped at a Salina restaurant for a light supper. The affair will long be remembered most pleasantly by all who attended.

CRACK SQUAD CHANGES TO NEW ATTRACTIVE UNIFORMS

"Aren't they cute?" "Aren't those the sweetest uniforms?" These and similar expressions are heard every time the boys of our Crack Squad appear in public.

The Crack Squad indeed has a uniform of which it may well be proud. The jacket is of burnt orange and black with a black stripe around the lapel and edges. The trousers are of white serge with an orange stripe edged in black extending from the waist to the cuff, a half inch wide. The overseas cap is trimmed in burnt orange and black.

The uniform is a great improvement over that of last year.

BEVERLY'S TWO TEAMS LOSE TO ST. JOHN'S

Wednesday, February 5th, St. John's played Beverly winning the fourth game of the season by a score of 25-14. The cadets scored first making three hits before Beverly came around with a basket. The game was fast and hard. The Beverly team were not able to break through the cadets strong defense. At the end of the first half St. John's was leading by 14-4.

In the second half the cadets continued to score, although Beverly slipped in a few baskets the latter part of the third period and the first of the fourth quarter. Jeannin, cadet forward, was high point man for the cadets.

The second team showed up well playing a good game from the start with the Beverly seconds. The game was close all the way, the cadets winning the game by 18-15.

KIPP TEAM WINS 30-20 SECOND'S LOSE 7-6

Saturday night, February 15, in our gymnasium, St. John's met its second defeat of the basketball season by the quintet from the Kipp High School. Kipp took the lead from the start and held it throughout the game. In the second period the cadets gained a point lead, but retained it only for a moment.

Miller was the high point man for Kipp with eleven points, although Johnson, the center seemed to be the outstanding player of the game. Bivens and Jeannin played good ball for the losers.

At the end of the first quarter our opponents were ahead 7-5, and at the end of the first half 19-11. The score was 24-14 at the end of the third quarter, and when the final whistle blew Kipp was in the lead 30-20.
