CADETS COP SWIMMING TROPHY

The first annual dual swimming meet between St. John's and Salina High School was held April 6, at the Y. M. C. A. pool.

The cadets far excelled the Highs in all branches of tank swimming and easily won all first places and three seconds allowing the High School swimmers but four second places.

Captain Grant of the cadet team was high point man with 15 points and Winger also of the cadets was second with 11½ points. Jackson won the plunge and Fuhrman the forty-yard dash, thereby giving all first places to cadets. The soldier relay team composed of Hopkins, Bowen, Fuhrman, and Winger started the meet off in great shape by winning their event with time to spare.

The cadet team was coached by Captain Davies to whom much credit must be given for turning out a fast well-balanced team.

The diving of Grant and Hartman caused much favorable comment. The dives were difficult but were exceptionally well done. The High School divers did well on the plain dives but were unable to execute the more difficult ones.

The following is a summary of the events:

1. RELAY RACE won by St. J., Hopkins, Bowen, Fuhrman, Winger, time 1:03 1/5.

2. FANCY DIVING—1st, Grant, S. J.; 2nd Hartman, S. J.

3. BREASTSTROKE—1st Winger, S. J.; 2nd, Jones, H. S.; time 40 3/5 sec.

4. 220 YARD SWIM—1st Grant, S. J.; 2nd, Brown, H. S.; time 3:17 4/5.

5. PLUNGE—1st, Jackson, S. J.; 2nd, Shiney, S. J. 6 40 feet in 37 sec.

6. BACKSTROKE—1st, Winger, S. J.; 2nd, Moses, H. S.; 37 1/5 sec.

7. 100-YARD SWIM—1st, Grant, S. J.; 2nd, Hopkins, S. J.; 1:15 2/5.

8. 40-YARD DASH—1st, Fuhrman, S. J.; 2nd Jones, H. S.; 22 2/5.

The back stroke was the most exciting contest of the evening as the first and second men were neck and neck all the way.

If we can win the cup again next year it will be our permanent trophy. As the entire squad with the exception of Winger will be back we have high hopes of making the cup ours to keep.

CADET BUGLERS

Several days ago the body of a man that used to belong to Major Perkins company arrived in Salina and a military funeral was given him. Cadets Winger and Grant were called upon to blow taps over his grave which is part of the impressive ceremony.

A RECENT ARRIVAL

Lloyd Hartman of Wichita, Kansas was recently enrolled. Hartman came in good season as his fancy diving took second place in the dual swimming meet with Salina High School on the sixth. Hartman is also a saxophone player and a track man.

BASKETBALL REVIEW

St. John's during the past basketball season developed the best basketball team it has had in years.

The cadets did not win every game it is true enough; but the teams that administered defeat did not have a walkaway.

The team had a great set back in the fact that all of the teams played were out of our class. Not only did they have more experience but they had greater numbers to pick from. At times there were only ten men out for basketball. With only ten men it eliminates competition and is a serious drawback.

What may be done by the team with teams of its class may be seen in the tournament that was played at Wesleyan. Out of twenty-six teams from the district St. John's reached the finals after playing five games in one day. The state the players were in at that time can be easily imagined. Lack of substitutes, to take their places in some of the games wore them out. It was nothing more than could be expected though as there were no super-men on the team.

Some good all-round players were developed this year. Three had experience on the first team last year, two on the second team while the others had no previous knowledge of the game.

Third year: Shiney, Captain and Guard.

He developed an aggressiveness that caused the opposing forwards to use all of their shiftiness if a goal was to be made in his territory. He was good at shooting baskets as well.

Second year: Condon, Left forward, was the second high point man in the conference and was on the B class tournament team. His floor work was exceptional and although he is very small he is an outstanding player.

Second year: Hill, Guard, was quick at following up plays and could be counted on for a goal, when the defense was impassible.

First year: Lichty, (Captain elect), right forward; was a good consistent player and managed to slip a goal quite often for a counter.

First year: Aldous, Center; was a fighter of the first water and caused more than one game to be a St. John's victory. His specialty was pivoting.

First year: Dalton, Guard; was another player who was putting all he could into the game. His shots were close if not in the basket. He covered the floor well and kept the forwards worried.

First year: Bowen, Center; was the biggest man on the team and could out jump anything we ever ran against. He always had the other center in his eye and prevented several goals that would have spelled doom.

Other members of the second team who more than deserve honorable mention are: Wheeler, C.; Paddock, Harris, Bland and Fuhrman.

These men came out for practice when they knew there was no chance to speak of for the first team. They took many hard knocks and did much toward developing the squad.

Shiney receives a gold basketball fob, Condon a fob, Hill a fob, Aldous, Bowen, Dalton and Lichty get sweat-ers.

THE RADIO CLUB

The Radio Club which has been organized for several weeks has been making rapid progress under the leadership of the following officers: President, Lieut. Schafer, C.; Vice-President, Sgt. Wheeler, D.; Secretary and Treasurer, Sgt. Hoskinson. From an assessment of fifty cents per member, the club bought a library consisting of fifteen books, which all members of the organization have access to at any time. These books are a thorough study of radio, and their readers without a doubt soon become "Radio Bugs." The club members meet every Sunday after quiet hour and as radio is the latest rage, the club is well patronized.

EASTER HOLIDAY

Those cadets whose scholastic duties were satisfactory were granted the privilege of spending their Easter Sunday at home. Those that took advantage of this privilege were: Paddock, Ripley E., Ripley C., Pratt, Wilson, Lichty, Furman, Thompson E., Robinson, Conklin, Bowen, Heaton, Nelson, Miller, Chenoweth, Clanin, Lieser, Price H., and Price J.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

On Tuesday, April 3rd, Miss Catherine Joyce Ganssle and Miss Mary Virginia Allen entertained fifteen of the smaller boys and Miss Dorothy Perkins at the third of their delightful birthday parties. Master Raymond Shideler was to have been a guest but was unable to attend.

The guests arrived at three-thirty, and following the plan of former years, were escorted to Mrs. Ganssle's quarters first, where various games were played. Chief of these were the Man-in-the-Moon game; Couplet-rhyming game, an egg contest, and a Rooster Fight. All of these occasioned much mirth, and it was not necessary to approach nearer than one hundred feet of the scene of the party though the doors were closed) to know that all were having the time of their young lives. The moon game is a variation of the donkey's tail game. A circular paper moon is hung up at a convenient height and the contestants in turn approach the same blindfolded, (that is, they think they are approaching it) and try to draw on it with a pencil "the Man-in-the-Moon." Robert Crooks won this contest.

In the Rhyming, all sit on the floor and one of the party is appointed to start the game, who begins by saying a short sentence. The next fellow adds a line of similar feat making a rhyme with the last word of the first line. This was very funny indeed, and many were the "posers" given for the next fellow to rhyme with; for instance, "checkers" and "encyclopedia". A time limit was set in which to compose the rhymes, and the winner was determined by the process of elimination. Master Robert Crooks also won this game. Miss Dorothy Perkins won the egg contest, and Robert Jones beat all comers in the rooster fight.

After the guests had worked up a sufficient appetite in the games, they were conducted to the large recreation room on the same floor, where a bountiful "spread" awaited them. One of the ping-pong tables and two subsidiary tables had been beautifully decorated and appointed with flowers, favors and all things good to look upon, and as soon as the guests sat down they were served with bumper helpings of cake, ice-cream, easter-eggs, candy, peanuts etc.

The hostesses each had large birthday cakes adorned with three and candles, Miss Joyce's with three and Miss Mary's with four. The joint birthday party was occasioned by the fact that the hostesses have the same birthday,—April 3rd, which coincidence is further marked by the additional fact that this same day is also Miss Mary's mother's birthday.

CAPTAIN LAW ADDRESSES CADETS ON LIFE-SAVING

On Easter Monday, April 2nd, the faculty and cadet corps were favored by a visit from Captain J. S. Law, of the American Red Cross Life Saving Corps, who gave us an extremely interesting address on life-saving.

Capt. Law said that life saving has been one of the chief post-war activities of the Red Cross. The country has been divided into divisions and all schools and colleges are being visited and lectures and demonstrations given on the latest and most approved methods of life-saving. The Life-Saving Corps is a branch of the Red Cross Society, and the purpose of the present lecture tour of the schools is to organize this life-saving work so that it can be carried on independently of the parent organization, whose headquarters is in Washington, D. C. Regular tests are given by the provincial examiners, who receive their cards of authority from the divisional headquarters.

The biggest work is in the small towns. There are two tests, Junior 12-17, and Senior, 17 up, with no age limit. Dr. Elliot Smith, a man seventy years old, is the Examiner in Kansas City, and spends much of his time in giving demonstrations and has qualified a very large number of people for the work. While 12 years is the "oyung" age limit, Capt. Law said that many had become proficient in life-saving at a younger age, and told of a small girl of eight who had done some really wonderful work.

Capt. Law said the chief causes of drowning were two, carelessness, and lack of life-saving knowledge. As to the first, it is simply a question of thinking before one acts, and as to the second, the knowledge is not sufficient, but this must be supplemented by much training. One must know what to do, and above all be able to act quickly in an emergency.

The tests include disrobing in the water, swimming 100 yards, and properly approaching a drowning person; then the proper method of carrying the person and of resuscitation. There are three approaches used, the front, the back and the under-water approach. One of the main things is to be able to break any hold that the drowning person may get on his rescuer. There is no hold that cannot be broken.

Other causes of drowning were poor swimming, going in the water too soon after eating and getting cramps, and staying in too long.

After telling of the purpose of the life-saving work and its methods, Captain Law gave interesting demonstrations of the various approaches, carries, and method of resuscitation. He was assisted in these demonstrations by Capt. Davies and Cadet Lieut. Winger. The demonstrations were made on the large study-hall table about which the faculty and cadets were grouped. It was most interesting to see the case with which a person can be lifted and carried, when the proper method is used, as also the various ways in which the subject's hold on one can be broken.

Capt. Law said that the lung motor and Pulmotor are not advocated largely as they take an expert to run them, and unless such expert is near the scene of accident, they are not of much use. He illustrated the Shaffer method of resuscitation, in which the subject is laid face down and pressure is exerted by placing the hands on the lower part of the back and pressing the internal organs up towards the lungs in order to stimulate action of the diaphragm. Pressure is exerted at regular intervals about 12 to 15 times per minute, and the method has to be kept up for an hour or two. As soon as the subject revives, the limbs are massaged towards the heart.

Everyone listened with keen interest to all that Captain Law said, and St. John's wishes to express sincere thanks to him for his most helpful and instructive lecture.

Later in the day Captain Law gave a demonstration at the Y. M. C. A. and the cadets were kindly invited to be present.

GUILD PARTY

A group of cadets were entertained by a dance given by the girls Friendly Society at the Episcopal Guil Hall last Mandy night. April 9. The cadets that were there were: Condon, Aldous, Poindexter, Hyde, Dalton, Gay Zellweger, Bland and Bowen.

PICNIC

Capt. Hass and Capt. Shideler's Table
Go To Bennington

On Wednesday, March 28, Captain Hass and Shideler took the boys from their table and a few other cadets with Capt. Allen as their guests on a picnic to Bennington Mills. The party included: Captains Hass, Shideler and Allen, Cadets, Sawyer M., Sawyer S., Shaffer K., Wheeler C., Swimmer, Beasley, Bergren, Foster, Paddock, Shortt, Woulfe, Wilson.

The party left the school in the school truck at 3:45 p. m., and all went very well until about four miles from Bennington Mills, when suddenly a fzzzz-ing sound warned the party that all was not well with the wagon. Upon investigation it was found that one of the rear tires was out of breath, having been deflated by a stone cut. There was a mad rush for the tools, and while jack, wrench and tire repairing outfit were quickly found, the all-important pump was reported among the missing. Nothing daunted, however, the repair crew eagerly set to work under the able direction of cadet Shortt, who quickly had the tube repaired with a "mean" patch that will stick to it till its dying day. But alas! no pump! One or two autos were allowed to go by, but the third was hailed by Capt. Allen and by the kindness of its occupant a pump was forthcoming, and the party was soon again on its way rejoicing.

In due time the objective was reached and the party was divided into details to prepare for the supper. Capt. Shideler and Capt. Allen prepared the fires, while Capt. Hass supervised the wood gatherers and afterwards kept the rest of the party busy while the final preparations were being made. Shortt cooked the bacon and eggs, and again did a "mean" job.

Finally mess call was sounded, or rather whistled, and the cadets came in on the double quick from their various occupations. After getting wood some had gone exploring, some swimming, others played baseball and horseshoes, while a few had disported themselves in an open boat.

The menu consisted of: Bacon, eggs, toast, bread and butter, jelly, cheese, corn relish, cinnamon buns, apples, coffee, and chocolate candy, and plenty of each to satisfy the hungriest souls in the party.

After the meal games were played again for a short time, and the party prepared for the next stage of the trip, namely: to go to the town of Bennington and give a few hearty yells for S. J. M. S. and for Bennington. This part of the program was delayed some minutes by the discovery that the Henry physical setback, for in addition to having being out of breath temporarily, he was now found to be blind in one eye. This defect was quickly remedied by Capt. Hass, who most skillfully joined a severed ligament just behind the Henry's right eye, and the party sped on its way. They let Bennington know they were in town, and who they were, and after 15 farewell Rah's for Bennington, started for home. Everyone was in high glee, and singing was kept up during the whole trip. The happy party reached home at 9:15 p. m.

ANOTHER PARTY

On Thursday, April 29th, Captain Allen's table "put on" another "feed" as a result of the spelling and geography games that had been featured at mealtimes during the past two months, which games have been referred to in previous issue of the Skirmisher.

The party was held in Capt. Allen's quarters at 8:30 p. m., and consisted of a Hamburger feed, supplemented with lavish amounts of ice cream, cakes, fruit, peanuts and candy. Say, but those hamburgers did hit the spot! They were real ones, served hot with all the trimmings; and the rate at which they disappeared give proof of Mrs. Allen's skill as cook. The party made merry with singing and dancing to piano and victrola, and everyone had a real good time. The cadets left for their quarters at 10:30.

Those present were Major and Mrs. Perkins and Dorothy as guests, and the following members of Capt. Allen's table: Richard Poindexter, Earl Zellweger, Davis Bland, James Price, Wyatt Robinson, Melin Rice, and Royal Clanin, Captain and Mrs. Allen and Miss Mary Virginia.

DIXON'S HAND INJURED

Don't try to play baseball with the shot! This advice may sound needless, but it is not. Eldred Dixon has been suffering from a bruised and infected hand caused by playing catch with the shot. It became necessary to have his hand operated on which was very painful. Dixon has much improved now, and we sincerely hope he does not have the same thing to go through with for some time.

rained blows upon Shiney's head. Decision went to Muir.

Hartman then tried two armlocks which Byres quickly broke. The last two minutes of the bout saw Byres, the aggressor, clamping on two or three holds. Hartman had a hard time breaking these holds. Time. Decision went to Byres.

SCHOOL RECEIVES RARE GIFT

Mr. A. Spillman, 812 State Street, Salina has turned over to the mathematics department a set of very fine models for demonstrations in solid geometry. The models are known as A. H. Kennedy's Dissected Geometrical Blocks and include models of a sphere, a cone, a cylinder, and other figures. It is expected that the use of these blocks will greatly facilitate the work in solid geometry and simplify the more difficult explanations.

Mr. Spillman was formerly a teacher in the normal school which at one time was located on west Iron Avenue, Salina. He taught geometry among other things and acquired some splendid equipment for the teaching of that subject. Mr. Spillman has been a friend to St. John's for many years and we now have occasion to thank him for this most practical demonstration of his friendship.
