FOOTBALL REVIEW

The picture of the First Football Squad calls for a few remarks in review of the season generally and a word or two concerning the records of the first team men.

Altogether nine games were played during the season, of which the team won six and lost three. Some fine players were developed among first-year men, while the training the older men have received in former seasons manifested itself with telling effect in every game. The scores of all games played were as follows: from which it will be seen that the team made a splendid showing and covered themselves with glory:

Ellsworth 9—St. John's 0.
Ellsworth	9	St. John's 0
Solomon	6	St. John's 47
Abilene	6	St. John's 7
Lincoln Center	6	St. John's 17
Marquette	21	St. John's 6
Hays	0	St. John's 43
Lucas	0	St. John's 7
Salina	6	St. John's 0
Minneapolis	6	St. John's 122
Totals	60	249

A resume of the several players follows:

HILL (Captain) as left end played good consistent football throughout the season. His real worth came from his qualities as a leader. This is his third year on the team, and he has won all the trophies: sweater, fob and blanket. He will graduate this June.

SHINEY as left tackle, was again a tower of strength both on the offensive and defensive. He carried the ball splendidly, and he was a ver hard man to bring down. He did a" the punting and his kicks average^d well over 40 yards. He, too, has played three years on the team, having won all the trophies. He will graduate this spring.

ALDOUS, left guard, was a smart heady player. This was his second year on the team. He also played tackle, end, and center, making him one of the most versatile men on the team. He has won his sweater and gold fob. Ed'ard will graduate this year.

ELMER E. HILL

McCRACKEN, played on the team for the first time this year, and made his sweater. He was considered one of the best centers that St. John's has turned out in years. A hard worker both in practice and in a game. He will be with the team next year and should be a most valuable man.

DIXON, right guard, another new man, and one of the heaviest men on the team. For a new man he has shown remarkable ability as an offensive and defensive lineman. He should make a very valuable man in his line for another year.

FREEMAN (Meat) right tackle. This is Freeman's second year on the team. He was a giant in strength, a fearless and aggressive player who can always be counted upon to hold down his part of the line. He is the most powerful man physically on the team, and has never found an opponent who could cope with him successfully. He has won his sweater and fob.

EDWIN GRANT

DALTON made the team for the first time this year. Last year he was greatly handicapped by having a fractured shoulder, which prevented him from winning his letter. He came into his own this year and as right end was one of the best ends ever developed at St. John's. He was adapted to receiving passes, being always down the field under punts, and his tackling and all round defensive work was the best seen by any end this season.

CONDON, quarterback. This is Condon's third year on the team, he having won his sweater, fob and blanket. He has played this position for two years, and he was considered by all who saw him in action to be the headiest and most versatile quarterback seen in our games this year. In addition to his qualities as quarterback, he was a remarkably good man in running with the ball, both in the open and through the line. He is handicapped by his size and weight, being the smallest man on the squad, but this handicap is offset by his dauntless spirit and determination to win. He will graduate this spring.

GRANT, left half. Grant's all round ability as an athlete well fitted him for his position as a line-smashing backfield man. This was his second year on the team. He possesses unlimited energy and plenty of fight, and is a great encouragement to the rest of the players. He was one of the most consistent ground gainers we had this year. As Captain-elect he should be one of the best players in this part of the state. He has the natural ability, not only as a player, but also as a leader. He can play any position in the backfield, and this year had considerable experience in calling signals when Condon was out of the game.

WINGER, right half. This was Winger's first year on the team. Although he has been on the squad for several years, he seemed to have found himself only this year. He played his best game in the Salina contest, in which he was the best ground gainer for St. John's. He was selected by all who saw that game as the outstanding star of both teams. He seems to have found his stride now and great things are expected of him next year.

SWIMMER, full back, played on the team for the first time this year. He is a good stocky player who seldom fails to make gains around ends whenever he is called upon. Towards the end of the season he showed great improvement over his first few games and developed into one of the most aggressive full backs that we have seen in action this year. With his added weight and experience he should prove a very valuable man another year.

LICHTY, and Winger alternated in their position as right half. Both were valuable men who could be counted upon to play any position in the backfield and play it well. Lichty has the size and speed to make him a remarkable player, and in most of his games was a tower of strength in advancing the ball, especially around ends. He is extremely fast when getting into the open, and is hard to bring down. His best game of the season was at Hays, where he made many gains of 30 and 40 yards. He will be on the team next year, and should make a most valuable man.

BOWEN played his first year on the team, and developed into a good consistent linesman. He was very aggressive, full of fight, and held down his position at guard very creditably for a player of his size and age. He should prove a real asset to the team in another year.

WHEELER, D. This was Wheeler's first year on the team. He was handicapped by having the misfortune to break his collarbone in the Hays game. He had played end and half-back until the time of his accident, and was rounding into one of the best players on the team. He was a fearless player, and his determination to stop all plays directed at his side of the line was no doubt the reason for his injury.

The spirit shown by Wheeler, D., in this game by playing through the entire first period with a broken collar bone has been a great example of dauntless tenacity that is bound to have been an inspiration to the rest of the team.

ASSARIA vs. ST. JOHN'S

St. John's played the Assaria High School on January 23 at Assaria. Shiney played guard; Hill, guard; Aldous, center; Condon, forward; and Dalton, forward. Our team was handicapped by the indisposition of two of the players, Hill and Aldous, who had been on the sick list the day before and were still feeling none too fit.

In the first few minutes of the game Assaria made six points. Then the cadets played hard and held them down for the rest of the quarter. The Assaria boys played well and soon the score was eight to two in their favor. Condon and Shiney put on some extra steam and during the quarter St. John's made six points. At the half the score stood eighteen to six in favor of Assaria.

In the third quarter St. John's started with new spirit, but neither team seemed to gain much. At the last of the third quarter St. John's made four more points while Assaria put eight on their score. Heaton and Bowen were put in at the last quarter. Both teams played hard, but finally Assaria began to pile up their score, resulting in a win for them of thirty-five to seventeen at the end of the game.

CHAPMAN vs. ST. JOHN'S

The Chapman game was played on January 19th in the St. John's gymnasium. The line-up was as follows: Lichty, right forward; Condon left forward; Shiney, right guard; Hill, left guard; Aldous, center.

Condon threw three field goals and five free throws. Aldous made two field goals, Shiney two field goals and Lichty one field goal, making our score 21. Chapman piled up seven field goals and five free throws, making a total of 19. The teams were well matched, and the contest hard fought. Chapman lost many more of their free throws than St. John's; otherwise they would have won. At the end of the game the scores were 21 to 19 in favor of St. John's.

Capt. and Mrs. Allen and Sukie spent New Year's Day with their friends, the Rev. and Mrs. J. T. Bovill, in Ellsworth, Kans. While there they assisted in the presentation of the Pageant of the Nativity in the Church on New Year's Eve, Mrs. Allen playing the organ and Mr. Allen the violin.

RADIO

It is exceedingly evident that our little radio set has proven itself very efficient and valuable as an entertainer, for at nearly any time of the day it is possible to find a few enthusiasts in the radio room enjoying some musical concert. Such stations as Kansas City Star, Sweeney Auto School, Wichita, Kans.; Los Angeles, Calif.; Atlanta, Ga.; Davenport, Ia.; and other stations too numerous to mention have been listened to and fine concerts and interesting programs enjoyed from all of them.

Radio is a most interesting thing for the school, and appeals to young as well as old. It opens the way to a larger field of knowledge along the lines of electrical engineering art, and business practice. As an advertising medium, broadcasting has proven itself a worthwhile investment. For example, the Terry Music Store of Salina, states that its mailing list and mail business has increased two or three times over its original size since the installation of their broadcasting station. That is a typical example of what has happened to many such concerns that have had the vision to see the advantages and the great opportunity for making their name known over an unlimited field by means of this novel and interesting method.

Cadets to Hospital

Two cadets have recently had to visit the Asbury Hospital, Wheeler, D., and Bendell. Wheeler's shoulder had been bothering him for some time since the plate was inserted in his collar-bone, and it was found necessary to operate again and remove the plate. He is back at school and getting along nicely now.

Bendell reported on the sick list January 20 at first suffering from the grippe; but it later developed that he had a light case of appendicitis and an operation was advised. Mrs. Dougherty, Bendell's mother, was telegraphed and came to Salina on Monday, January 22. The operation was performed that afternoon, and the patient has been getting along very nicely. Drop in at Asbury and see him, boys, when you are down town.

Col. Ganssle (in the course of a brief address on banking, currency, etc.): "I have here a few samples of different bills that I have picked up at odd times."

Price H., "Where did you pick them up?"

ALUMNI NOTES

Merritt ("M") Stiles Heard From

An interesting letter was recently received by the Colonel from "M" Stiles (1921), who is still pursuing his studies at Stillwater, Okla. He writes as follows:

"Although this is my second year away from St. John's, it is the same old St. John's to me, and I am certainly interested in her progress. Perhaps my brother will be there by the time this reaches you. I tried to tell mother that he should have gone there last fall," "My father always wanted him to go down there, as it did me so much good. Have asked father to see the parents of one of Sibley's friends in Denver and try to get them to send their boy with Sibley. In fact I have worked on several boys myself, and have one other line-up, I think. Was immensely interested in the article on the Bishop's address and the football games. Our local fraternity has just recently been installed into Beta Theta Pi. Our petition was accepted this year after about five years of hard work. We all feel just about as good as it is possible to feel. I don't imagine there are very many of the old boys that I know there this year. I noticed reports of Elmer, Gus, Winger and Wheeler, D., also McWhinney in the Skirmisher, every word of which I devoured, even the advertisements. Remember me to all the boys and tell them I would certainly appreciate a letter from any of them."

That's the kind of letter to have from the Alumni, and that's what keeps so high the spirit of St. John's. "M's" address is 318 West Street, Stillwater, Okla. Drop him a line, fellows, for where an "old boy" shows such sincere interest in his school, it's up to those of his friends who are still at St. John's to let him hear from them.

G. Kenneth (Fat) Harris ('22) writing to Mr. Allen under recent date, says he is still working steadily with the H. D. Lee Mercantile Co. in Kansas City, Mo., and studying at night besides. He says his position is nothing like the soft snap a boy has at school. The following paragraph quoted directly from his letter contains sound advice to all cadets, and should be read and re-read and taken to heart. He says:

"If realization had come to me at school that those happy carefree school days should have been profitably spent on acquiring knowledge that would make for success later on, I would not have to apply myself so diligently now. But, believe me, I've learned one thing, and it is this: If you have ambition to be a success, you have to STUDY, and then STUDY some more."

Kenneth lost no time after leaving school, but went straight to work. He has had seven months of it, and the above paragraph from his interesting letter shows that he realizes fully the value of his work done at school, and regrets every minute of his time here that was not spent in earnest preparation. Get all you possibly can out of your school life; make every minute of it count in some way. Remember, you may not have as much time later on to do the work that could have been done at school. Think it over.

The "Flu" at St. John's

The epidemic of the grippe that has been going around a great deal lately did not overlook a visit to St. John's. On the three days Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 22, 23 and 24, more than one-half of the cadet corps were sick, and in consequence classes were suspended on those days. We are nearly rid of it now, however, although practically everyone is still going around with an aggravating cough and rather tough look on his face. We must be thankful that the epidemic was only a milder form of the "flu" and that it was not attended by any really serious results. It is a miserable feeling and certainly "gets" one, and none, not even the strongest, seem to be immune. Let's hope it will be a long time before we are favored with another like visitation.

SOME FORECASTS

The Astrologer has predicted the following futures for the next ten cadets to come under his mystic observation:

CHENOWETH: Coach of the Harvard Football Team, a position which he secured through his record as full back on the All American team.

CLANIN: Head waiter in the Soop-tonutts Cafe, Arcola, Kans., and proprietor of the hotel barber shop.

CONDON: Chief drill instructor of the special bodyguard of the Prince of Monaco at Monte Carlo. Spends his leisure hours in the Casino and is reported to be rich beyond the dreams of avarice.

CONKLIN: Ring master in Barney & Bayrum's Circus. Also assists in the Wild West Act as leader of the gang that holds up the stage at Bloody Forks.

CROOKS: Has had a checkered career. At present no certain abode or calling, though actually engaged as night porter in the hotel Razzle Dazzle at Farmersville, Ia.

CROW: Proprietor of a flourishing hamburger and peanut stand on the corner of Santa Fe and Iron Avenue, Salina, Kans. Married and has five children.

DALTON: In the Consular Service as attache to the American Consul at Chop Suez, China. Has been in the service there for five years and already knows how to read laundry tickets at sight.

DORAN: Elevator boy in the Waldorf Castoria Hotel at Lincoln Center. Seems to be bothered considerably by the ups and downs of life, and is contemplating a change of position to that of night watchman in a bank.

DIXON: Co-partner with Lieser in the Dixon-Lieser Powder Co. Their product is guaranteed to kill roaches, bugs, rats, mice, and other quadrupeds at 50 yards. Can also be used effectively to polish silverware, false teeth and other bric-a-brac, and as a remedy for burns, boils and bunions it is without a par. Sample on request.

EDWARDS: Leader of the band of the Atta Boy Minstrel Troupe at present showing in Brookville, Kans. That's his main job; he also doubles as leading lady in the sketch entitled "Denver Rose" given in the second act.

"Nuff Said"

Daughter: Yes, mother, Albert did kiss me last night, but I sure sat on him for it.

MR. CRAWFORD ENTERTAINS ST. JOHN'S

On Thursday evening, January 11, the day after the cadets returned to school after the Christmas recess, Mr. T. Marion Crawford came out to St. John's and entertained us all with another of his delightful readings. His program this time was of a little more serious nature than that of last year, and consisted of a masterly rendition of Wilson Barrett's famous play: "The Sign of The Cross."

The scene is laid in Rome at the time of Nero, when the Christians were being mercilessly persecuted by the Romans. The plot centers around a young Christian maiden named Mercia, whose remarkable beauty attracted the attention of the Roman Prefect, Marcus. The latter fell in love with her and offered her his protection from Roman citizens who had recognized her and her companion, an old man Titus, as Christians from seeing the old man make the "Sign of The Cross" on the sand. It was reported to Nero that the Christians were plotting against him and that this Christian girl was actually being protected by his own trusted servant Marcus. This was by no means all of Marcus's trouble. Bernice, a lady of Nero's court, was desperately in love with Marcus, and when she learned of his devotion to the Christian maid, she sent for him and passionately argued with him. The result was that Marcus acknowledged his infatuation for Mercia and left Bernice to her despair. Through jealous intrigue with other women of the court and the gossip Dacia, she brought about an order from Nero for Mercia to be taken away from Marcus. The latter appeared with Mercia before Caesar and pleaded for her life. Finally Nero agreed to spare her if she would renounce her faith. This, of course, she would not do, and she was taken away by the soldiers. Marcus tells Nero that his throne is none too secure in Rome and offers him his loyal support against whatever might befall; but Nero turns a deaf ear to all his pleadings for Mercia's life, and gloats over the prospect of the "sport" soon to be afforded him when the Christians are thrown to the lions at the forthcoming games in the arena. As the time for the games draws near, Marcus visits Mercia under the amphitheatre, where she patiently awaits her doom, and pleads with her to give up her faith and become his wife. The climax is reached when the men come to take her with other Christians to be cast into the arena. She is asked for the last time whether she still clings to her Christian faith, and upon her answering that she would never renounce it and welcomed the death awaiting her as the entrance into the life beyond, Marcus takes her hand and boldly steps forth a Christian with her as his bride to meet the awful doom in the arena.

The "Sign of the Cross" is a play to tax the dramatic powers of the best actors, and the splendid way in which Mr. Crawford renders it, and his skillful impersonation of the various characters by lightning changes of expression and modulations of the voice, stamp him a real master of his art.

A rising vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Crawford by the whole assembly who thoroughly enjoyed his entertainment.

HONOR ROLL

As an incentive to making higher averages, it has been decided to publish in The Skirmisher the monthly averages made by the ten cadets ranking highest in the School. These ten cadets will constitute the Honor Roll for the month. The Honor Roll for the last school period to December 20th is given below:

1 Hoskinson, average.....	95.8
2 Bates ".....	87.9
3 Riblett ".....	87.6
4 Jackson ".....	87.1
5 Sawyer, A. ".....	85.9
6 Wilson ".....	85.7
7 Chenoweth ".....	85.5
8 Dalton ".....	85.4
9 Phillips ".....	85.2
10 Crooks ".....	85.1

The Honor Roll for last month is divided evenly between the High School and Junior School departments, with five from each. Of course there should be more in the nineties and more upper school cadets in the first five places. Get on the Honor Roll! Get in the NINETIES and strive to head the HONOR ROLL!

Advertisers Pleased

In a letter recently received from the Craddock Uniforms Co., of Kansas City, Mo., informing the Skirmisher Board that they wish to reserve additional space for their advertisement, they say: "Let us compliment you upon the magazine—it is a very nice paper, and we are proud to be among those advertising in it."

NEW BOYS ENROLLED

Six new boys were enrolled during the Christmas holidays, and inquiries are constantly coming in. The new cadets are:

Sibley Stiles, a brother of Merritt Stiles ('21), of Denver.
Richard Hopkins, of Denver.
Robert Paddock, of Wichita.
William Hutto, of Kingman, Kans.
Harry Fuhrman, of El Dorado, Kans.

Wyatt Robinson, of Osawatomie, Kans.

The first four of these are high school cadets, the other two being in the Junior School.

All of the new boys this year are real good fellows, and are quickly catching the spirit of St. John's. A hearty welcome is extended to them all. Let's show them a real time, and foster in them such a love for the good name and traditions of St. John's as will make them not only well contented St. John's boys, but also real active St. John's Boosters.

Exchanges

The Skirmisher acknowledges receipt of the following exchanges during the past month: The Habit, from Salina High School; The Patriot, from Leavenworth High School; The Eagle, from Missouri Military Academy, Mexico, Mo.; and the Reformatory Herald, from Hutchinson, Kans.

It will be interesting to St. John's radio fans to learn that the Leavenworth High School secured their set by the novel method of taking orders for soap.

Also that the Salina High School have organized a radio club among the seniors. At the meetings the various parts of the radio set are studied, while concerts are enjoyed from the main broadcasting stations of the country.
