THE SAINT JOHN'S DUCK HUNTERS

Immediately following the game played at Hays, on November 1st, Heaton, Phillips and Bland drove to Larned, Hal's home town. On arriving, the boys were greeted with hot roast goose which went very well after the long drive.

The next evening the boys made the trip to the lake which is situated about thirty-five miles from Larned. On arriving at the cabin Phillips and Bland were busy for almost an hour trying to construct a comfortable bed on the floor, and after much argument and rearranging the task was completed. Even though the comfort derived from it was not quite that which was anticipated. However, the night in the cabin was passed very peacefully except for a considerable amount of loud snoring. A few complaints were turned in against Phillips for "cover thieving." Although none were affected with pneumonia the following morning.

The alarm awakened the bleary-eyed hunters at four o'clock on an extremely chilly morning and after breakfast the decoys were set out and soon all were settled in blinds waiting for the ducks to come. The suspense was not long and soon the shooting began in all directions. A few hours later after the flight was over the hunters had bagged sixty-eight ducks and one goose.

Later in the day the boys started for Salina and arrived at school with enough ducks to feed the entire battalion for one meal.

One of the most greatly enjoyed features of the trip was the visit at Heaton's home and especially Mrs. Heaton's excellent cooking.

HONORS

The competition between the squads and their leaders came to a close last week after a series of drills and inspections. The following are the averages of the squads:

Cronin	85.5
Doran	84
Farnsworth	83
Craven	82
Ripley, E.	77.6
Lester	75.7
Fuhrman	75
Bugle Corps	75
Crooks	74.7

These squads were graded by the following rules:

1. For each five hours squad a deduction of two points were made.
2. For each study reported failed in weekly grades a deduction of 2 points were made.

3. For squad winning competition at retreat formations daily there was added one point.

The members were: Jeanin, Flanders Mourning, Hoover, Scott, I., Sawyer.

Major Perkins treated the members of the squad, Mrs. Ganssle, Joyce and Lieut. McCracken to a fine dinner as a reward for having worked so hard to win.

Soon after this competition was started it was very noticeable that special duty became less, grades became higher and appearances of Cadets neater. We all congratulate Corporal Cronin and his squad.

Let every squad try to get it for the coming month.

Another new boy has arrived at Saint John's he hails from St. Louis, Mo. His name is Marvin M. Miller. He is with the Flying Miller's Trapeze performers. Who are going to perform at the Shrine Circus which will be held at the Memorial Hall, starting November 21st to 29th, excluding Sunday.

They have been with the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus for seven years now. We hope to have him with us for the full year.

Cadet Officers Hear General King

On Monday October 13th., the Cadet Officers were given the privilege of attending the Rotarian Club, as guests of Colonel Ganssle, to have luncheon and hear General King, Commandant at Fort Riley, speak. The speech was enjoyed by the officers more-in-fact than by the regular rotarian members, for the reason that many of the phrases and the usual military language was not so thoroughly understood by the Rotarians as by the officers. The speech pertained to the Philippine Islands, and the hard work of General Wood to keep order there. The nature of the people was explained and the conditions of life in all the classes of people there.

The speech was very interesting for the fact that it was not given by someone who had read a few facts about the country, people and conditions, but from one of experience, as General King had been governor of a group of islands numbering over one thousand. The General also extended an open invitation to everybody present to make a visit to the Fort, and to attend the polo games. By sad accidents happening during recent foot-ball games and practice, Lieuts. Heaton and Manion were obliged to remain at school.

A few days ago, all the classes met to select their representatives for the Board of Control. The following men were elected: Lieut. Phillips to represent the sixth form; Lieut. Edwards the fifth form; Corp. Lester the fourth form; and Corp. Fuhrman the third and lower forms.

These men are indeed capable of performing all the duties required of class representatives and you may rest assured that they will do their best to fulfill these duties.

The Board of Control is composed of members of the faculty and these representatives. Some of the duties of this board are to set rules of regulation and to award trophies in athletics.

It is indeed a credit to the school and has always proved successful in past years.

We Wonder

What Cadets Linger and Whithead were doing out at the gate on the night of November 5th, (probably) "Dodge Touring."

Why Hawkins is carrying a black eye?

Why Utterback wears a girl's wrist watch?

Why Cadets Whitehead and McElhenie did not attend the Skirmisher Dance?

What Paul Revere had on our three early morning hunters.

What Col. Ganssle thought when he entered a certain cadet's room during quiet hour Sunday.

Icthus Club Gives Dance

On the evening of Monday, October 13th, the Icthus Club of the Episcopal Church gave an informal dance. Several cadets were invited and all had a highly enjoyable time. The cadets who attended were: Farnsworth, McElhenie, Hawkins and Jackson.

Noted Visitor

Lamont Johnson and Tom Murphy were here from Saint Mary's with the Saint Mary's football team which played Kansas Wesleyan. They visited the school and met several of the boys. It is of interest to know that Murphy made the third longest run from the kick off in the United States last year. He ran for ninety-two yards.

The school just received word that Mr. Becher Hungerford, a graduate of class '18 from this school is to be married Saturday, November 15th, to Miss Dorothy Bell Davis of Glencoe, Ill.

Hungerford was a star basket-ball player, bugler and a cadet with a very fine personality.

SCHOOL PETS

An opossum was given to Ripley, C., lately and he has been taming it. It is a little bigger than a rat and has a tale like one. It will soon be the school pet. It has a cage located at the Junior Building. There was another opossum belonging to Cadet Snodgrass but it got away and cannot be found. But Ripley's seems to be getting along. He feeds it raw meat, but it does not get what it did when it was in the woods. It got chicken and birds, like dead crows. It is a lazy old thing and is always sleeping. He has to take it out on a walk, so it can get exercise.

A NEW INDUSTRY AT SAINT JOHN'S

The latest fad is to make your own cider. As I was pouring through my paper while taking my simple repast of shredded wheat and postum, I saw an advertisement which read as follows: "Why pay high prices for hard cider when we teach you to become an expert bootlegger? Our course complete in two lessons, for information apply to room B-4, Sergt. Harris." I was interested and upon applying I was given the following directions: To make hard cider with a real kick, first, get one pillow case full of green apples and put them in a scrub bucket and massage the juice gently but firmly out of the apples. When this is done place the juice in a jar, at the same time adding at least four cakes of yeast, five pounds of sugar, one gram of castor oil and mix thoroughly. When this has stood for a week or so remove the concoction to a secluded spot and strain it through a well used towel. The cider should then be allowed to ferment. As all chemistry students know, when yeast and castor oil are combined they form a most delightful tasting beverage. The cider should not be drunk in large quantities and the great amount of alcohol is bad for the stomach. Once you try our method, never any other. Come on let's all be Bootleggers.

INJURIES

Cadet Sanders, who fractured a bone in his ankle when playing foot-ball visited in Courtland, Kansas, to see his parents and have his ankle attended to.

Cadet Paddock sustained a broken knee cap and returned to his home in Wichita, Kansas.

Cadet Reese visited friends and parents in Denver, Colo. the past week.

Cadet Oakley is spending two weeks with his parents in Eldorado, Kansas, after being injured in foot-ball.

Cadet Sergeant Hartman also of the Injury or (Gold Brick) squad motored to Wichita with his parents. He spent one week at home or rather in Wichita as he was home only some three days. We do not have to wonder for long where the remaining four days were spent. (She is said to be really good-looking.)

Bishop Mize: "Where did the ark rest, after the flood?"

Whitehead: "On top of a Rock."

An interesting bit of information is the news of the wedding of Lloyd A. McWhinney and Miss Mary Goodall at Hutchinson, Kansas, on Monday, October 27th. The ceremony was a quiet affair and was performed by Rev. A. O. Henry at the home of Mrs. Connelly. Mrs. Roy Weiss of Salina, Kansas, sister of the bride, Miss Nellie Norris of Hutchinson, Kansas, and Mr. Clarence Palmer, also of Hutchinson, Kansas, witnessed the ceremony. The romance had its beginning at Salina, Kansas, home of the bride, when Mr. McWhinney was student at St. John's Military Academy, from which preparatory school he was graduated in June with the highest honors in the student body, his rank being that of Cadet Major. The bride is a very charming lady and possesses a very pleasing personality. She is of the brunette Castilian type of beauty.

Mr. and Mrs. McWhinney are now visiting at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McWhinney, for a few days, as the bride expects to return to Salina.

JUST SOME VISITS

Cadet Myers spent the week end with his Aunt in Kansas City, Mo.

Cadet Buchaneau and Whitehead spent the week end with Cadet Buchaneau's parents in Abilene, Kansas.

Cadet Shortt I, and Shortt II, have made several brief visits with their parents in Wamego, Kansas.

Cadet Utterback visited (Pearl) in Newton, Kansas, the past week.

On the night of October 31th, Halloween, the cadets immediately after study hall, marched out to a bon-fire held west of the gymnasium. This bon-fire is held every year at this time to create a little more spirit for a big game the next day.

After playing horse and running around in general, the football squad left to attend a skull practice leaving the rest of the cadets corps to roast marshmallows and weinies. At 9:30 o'clock all went in and declared that they had had a good time. Cadets Putnam, Hammers and Lester slept by the fire, over night to guard against it spreading. Two full grown dead trees were used to help out in the fire.

AN INFORMAL DINNER

On the evening of October 30th, Major, Mrs. Perkins and Dorothy, and Lieut. Edwards were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Barker and John Barker, at their home, nearly nine miles north-east of Salina.

The party left Saint John's about 6:00 o'clock, in Major Perkin's "Good Maxwell" or better known as "Black Maria," and after a most enjoyable ride arrived at the Barker home about 6:30 o'clock.

The time from the arrival at the home to the start of dinner was spent in talking about the election and different candidates. The dinner was then served after which the radio furnished entertainment sufficient to last the rest of the evening.

Due to Major Perkin's intense interest in the radio, the party did not "break up" until about 11:30 o'clock.

After a cold but enjoyable ride, the party arrived at Saint John's and ready for a much needed rest.

Captain Shideler in Commercial Law: "What would happen if you wanted to cash a seventy-dollar mail order in some post office of a town of one hundred population?"

House: They wouldn't have the money on hand, would they?"

Captain: "No, so what would they do?"

Manion: "They would mortgage the post office."

We wonder what a flat tire meant to Bland when he came from the Grand early one evening.

Barnett has been reported as doing as well as could be expected. It may be that he will go to the Salina game Saturday, since he has been improving so fast lately.

There has been more literature through the mail this year at Saint John's than ever before. We have in our midst, the well known piano player John E. Putman, also the great vocal singer, Berggren or (Swede). Berggren who says that he is going to take a trip to Greeley, Colorado, in order to cultivate his voice. The Cadet Corps wish him a huge success.

On Armistice day Cadet Buglers Whitehead, McElhenie and Utterback were called upon by city authorities to blow "taps" at ceremonies in town. They did so very well.

At eleven o'clock the student body was assembled in the chapel and a short prayer service given, after which the school was dismissed until dinner.

Cadet Kermit Roth returned to school Sunday afternoon, November 9th, from a recent visit with his folks (and the doctor) in Emporia, Kansas.

Roth, recently injured his jaw in football practice, and unfortunately has been out of the game for a few weeks.

There is not much doubt though, in the minds of the Cadets, if Roth had a good time or not, while at home, as he came back feeling fine and with a new white "Shiek" sweater.

On Thursday afternoon the Cadet Squad of foot-ball men attended the Salina-McPherson foot-ball game. The game was of much interest to the Saint John's boys as they meet Salina on the following Saturday, November fifteenth. Coach Zanoni acted in the capacity of one of the officials.

As a whole, the game was well played but Salina received all the breaks which gave them the long end of a 14 to 3 victory. Johnson and Green starred for Salina while McPherson had no individual star. Salina's punting was poor and they were easily out punted by the McPherson booter.

As an English lesson, several of the classes were asked to turn in themes on the subject, "A Dinner at Saint John's." The following was turned in, but with no name on it, probably written by a very young student.

"A Dinner at Saint Johns"

The most unportant meal at St. John's is Dinner because it is served late and every body is hungry and their for eats more. During the meal if you want some bread you haf to yell at your top voice on account of so much noise. Sone of the boys uses very awful poor inglish and yell shoot me the bread, and lots of time you can't make anybody hear on account of every body eating at once. This is my theme."

The Cadet Corps have just recently received rifles for the first time this year, and are rapidly becoming smooth and efficient in the handling of them.

The first day of instruction was dedicated to the care of the piece, in which the Commandant, Major Roy W. Perkins, explained in detail every part of the rifle and the manner in which each was to be taken care of.

The succeeding drill periods have been devoted to the manual of arms, in which the cadets seem to take great interest as a huge improvement can be noticed each day.

There are only about eight fundamental movements in the manual of arms, and efficiency may be conquered only by practice. During the first few days of drill, the rifles seemed unhandy and clumsy to the new cadets but now smooth uniformity is rapidly overcoming any form of raggedness.

Linger: (thinking of confetti) "Say, I'll bet this "confectionery" is sure hard to clean up after a dance."

COACH MCGREW INJURED

Last week the foot-ball team got too rough in practice and broke Coach McGrew's leg. McGrew had a very bad "charlie horse" in his leg and it hindered his getting around very fast. Swimmer running interference for an end run, blocked McGrew low, twisting his foot, breaking a small bone just above his ankle.

Coach has been hobbling around on crutches and will have to for some time, but the bones are knitting back together as well as could be expected.

SEASONS BIGGEST FOOTBALL FLASH*Button-Beakes Trim Bootless Egg-heads—20 to 13

Many spectators got the biggest thrill of their lives when the "Bootless Eggheads" and the "Button Beaks" clashed in the Saint John's stadium on Sunday afternoon, November 9th. Although not many people will recognize these two teams they are destined to grow in football history as two of the greatest teams that ever battled on a field. Of course we have small games like Harvard and Yale etc, but we don't get to witness two teams such as these play.

The "Bootless Eggs" booted the ball to the Button-Beakes the first kick off. From then until the end of the first quarter neither team could gain more than four or five yards. Then McAnish the hard hitting red-headed full-back for the "Button-Beakes" broke through the "Bootless Eggs" almost impregnable defense for a touch-down. McAnish again started by kicking the goal for the "Button-Beakes" making the score 7 to 0 at the end of the first quarter.

In the second quarter the Button-Beakes decided that they could make two touchdowns as well as one so they proceeded to do so and kicked goal. But then the "Bootless Eggs" began to wake up and score two touchdowns over the "Button-Beakes" goal which had never been crossed before, except by teams whom they had played. This was done by Moe, the "Eggs" fast half, and a wonderful interference. They kicked goal once and failed once.

At the end of the half the score was 14 to 13 in the "Button-Beakes" favor.

Both teams came back strong in the second half and no one scored in the third quarter although the "Eggs" had somewhat of an edge over the "Button-Beakes" and nearly crossed the line twice. In the fourth quarter the "Button-Beakes" managed to run up another touchdown but failed to kick goal.

When the final whistle blew the score was 20 to 13 in the "Button-Beakes" favor.

RABBIT HUNT

On November 1st. the cadets were granted a holiday because of their good behavior on Halloween night. One group went hunting with the Colonel. They started at about twelve-thirty going north on the Bennington road for about four miles. They did not get any rabbits at the first place although they saw plenty. The Colonel and Cadets Buchanau and Ripley, E. were the bearers of the guns while the rest of them were the "beaters." Ripley, E. had a .22 rifle that had no front sight and had to be taken apart every time to extract the shell that had just been shot. That young hunter seemed to think it was a fine piece however as he shot a rabbit about every five minutes although no one could find the game.

The hunters then proceeded to go to a hunting ground a mile east from the Bennington road where the Thanksgiving hunters of last year had shot some game. Cadet Buchanau was to take the truck and Cadet Ripley E., who had an imaginary stomachache, around by the road and meet them at a given place. Cadet Jordan took Buchanau's gun and it was not long before we drove a rabbit towards him. His gun started to do a "Highland Fling" at the rabbit. At last he got up nerve enough to pull the trigger but did not get the rabbit. Cadet Eagle not thinking Jordan an excellent hunter took the gun and followed along the hedge. It was not long before he saw a large rabbit crouched in the hedge. Everyone came at his call and Ripley, E. was going to shoot it when Eagle called out,

"Don't shoot it, I think it has some babies." The rabbit thinking this a good time for his "exit" jumped away before anyone could shoot it. Not long afterwards Eagle's eagle eye and a good gun brought down a rabbit and soon the Colonel shot another. This was the extent of our game and as it was growing late we came home.

Those that enjoyed the hunt were Cadet Corp. Ripley, E. and Cadets Abbott, Johnson, Jordan, Eagle, Hattenback, Snodgrass, Buchanau, Ripley, C. and King.

THE SKIRMISHER DANCE

The first school active and dance of the year of 1924-25 was given by the Skirmisher Board, on Monday, October 20th. The Skirmisher Board with Captain J. F. Barker as faculty advisor, claim distinction as "pulling off" the successful event. The dance began at 7:30 p. m. because of the rule that provides, that all High School actives end by 10:30 p. m. on school nights.

The music was furnished by Chappell's Orchestra. Since this was not a program dance, several favorite dances were staged early in the evening and the party became generally acquainted. At 9:30 p. m. refreshments were served and after an hour's dancing the enjoyable party was brought to a close.

"Manuscript Found"

Yes we have a story writer among us. He is a love story writer and also a good foot-ball man, playing guard. The following literary gem was taken from a few scattered leaves of a note book and inserted in our columns to prove that foot-ball is not the only thing that weighs heavily on the minds of our players.

"Julia Thornsworth stopped her roadster in front of the Ritz. Julia had stopped for her friend Peggy Elliy. Peg took much more time than was expected to come out, all on account of Ted Terry.

The door watchman comes to Julia and tells her to move on. Julia makes a reply. The watchman starts to call a policeman when Ted Terry, a young college student saunters up to say "hello" to Julia. He sees the plight Julia is in and arranges the matter with the watchman.

Ted Terry talks to Julia for a few minutes. She talks to him but before she issues Ted an invitation to a dinner party she is giving in a few nights.

The night of the party arrives and Julia looks her loveliest. After dinner she and Ted dance several dances. Julia loves to dance with him. They go out and stroll in the garden. Ted makes violent love as they sit on the marble bench by a small lily pond. As Ted enfolds her in an embrace there comes a rustle in the shrubbery behind them. Someone orders them to put up their hands. They do so instantly. The bandit comes from behind them. He is the door watchman. As he steps around the bench he trips and strikes his head on the side of the bench. He lies very still. Ted goes to the house to get the police. Julia stays behind and covers the man with her revolver. She finds that he is good looking. He comes to. He pleads with her and she leads him to a hiding place. Then when Ted comes back she tells him the holdup man has escaped.

SENIOR CLASS RINGS HERE

In Saint Jack's own back yard;
The Egghead played at quarter,
While the button-beak played at guard.

The Kay Dets in the bleachers,
Oh my! How they did screech;
When the little Red-headed Grange,
Made a touchdown for the beaks.

And in the second quarter,
The beaks they didn't score;
The Bootless Eggs ran down the field,
With Scandy at the fore.

Then Scandy, he ran so fast,
He must have seen a roast;
For he never stopped a runnin',
Till the ball was between the posts.

It was between the halves,
That Porky got so mad;
He said he'd like to kill the Coach
For ever startin' such a fad.

The second half began,
With scared looks on some faces;
The Button-beaks he dashed "off-sides,"
And was penalized five paces.

The referee had a simple look on his face,
Something like a smile;
He acted as though t'was Yale and Cornell,
Something worth his while.

And when the final whistle had blown,
The Bootless egg, with an oversized stride;
Went struttin' out on the field of defeat,
With considerable less pride.

Hot Lips

Jackson—Linger, what are you so sad about?

Linger—Violet is mad at me.

Jackson—Why should you care.
She hasn't a car.

Linger—Yes, but she has wonderful lips.

"Why does Edwards wear his hair
so long?

"It's the only way he can create the impression that his brains are fertile."

Meetings were recently called of the Army and Navy Clubs for the purpose of electing new Captains. Lieut. Davis
Bland was elected captain of the Army
Club, and Lieut. Robert McCracken
Captain of the Navy Club. There were several good men to choose from in each club and the members are to be congratulated in selecting men who are able and willing to help them in their competition, for determining this coming years winning club.

Each year these two clubs compete in all the sports. This provides keen competition and is an inducement for athletics and physical development.
The Club getting the highest number of points at the end of the year is awarded a large silver loving cup.

Let's see all you men out training from now on with that loving cup in mind.

Captain Leisher: "On what was the first tax in the New Government put?"

Fisher: "Salted Peanuts."

A great mystery has come up at school lately. It is something like this;
"Why Captain John goes after Joyce
in his new "Hopple" every morning at the South Park School.

Although Joyce attends Kindergarten the upper part of the school has something to do with the mystery.

If anyone wishes to find out this mystery they might come to Room
B-1 for information, as the occupants of this room, hold the only key to the "mystery."
